ALMA MATER

Proudly point we to our record
High in deed and thought;
Daily, Central, will we praise thee
For the things you've taught.

Forward even be our watchword -
Conquer and prevail;
Here's to thee, our Alma Mater
Central High, all Hail!

Always will we do thee honor
As the years pass by;
Memories and thought will linger
Of traditions high.

Life

Is Life Worth Living?

A good question - is this life really worth living? Does it ever even out? Can the fleeting moment of joy ever be worth the weight of sorrow? Traveling this long road, those questions may haunt you - lurking somewhere barely beyond the rim of light, from just within the realm of fear. Deeper shadows may call those fears hounding again, or lonely evenings when the wind cries. And you may come to believe life is not worth it.

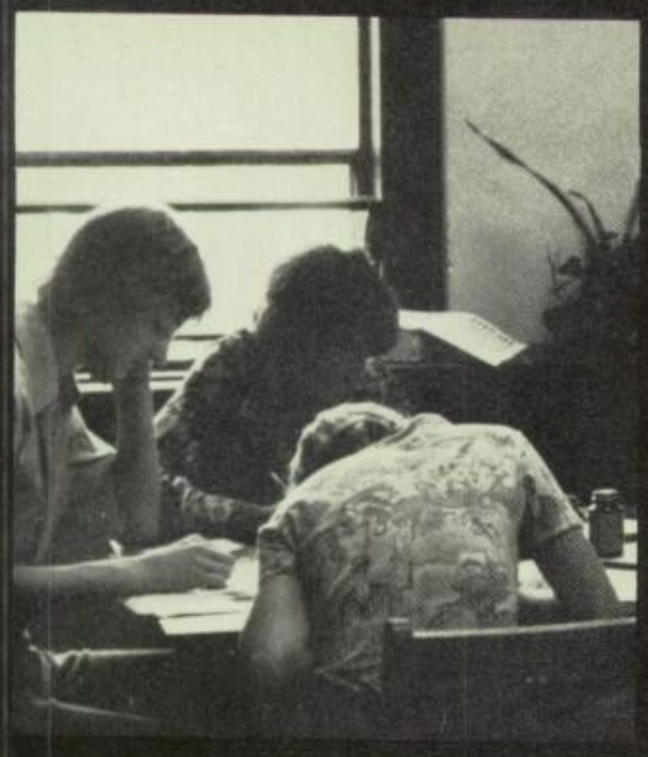
Suppose that; decide that, and live your life in agony and grief because you didn't ask to be born.

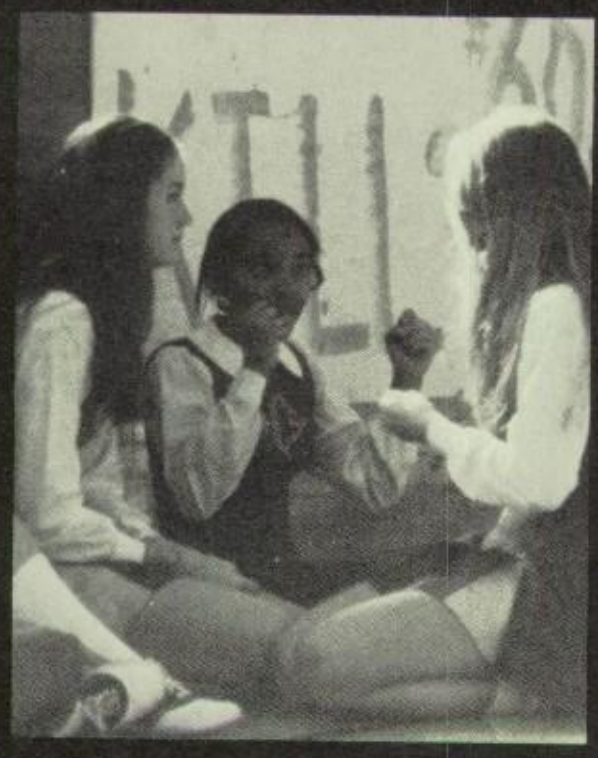
Or, refuse the quick denial of life and accept the slower, quieter "It is worth it; it must be." Then you can live your days in peace despite the fears and sorrows. Know, then, that you will always have at least so much to cling to.

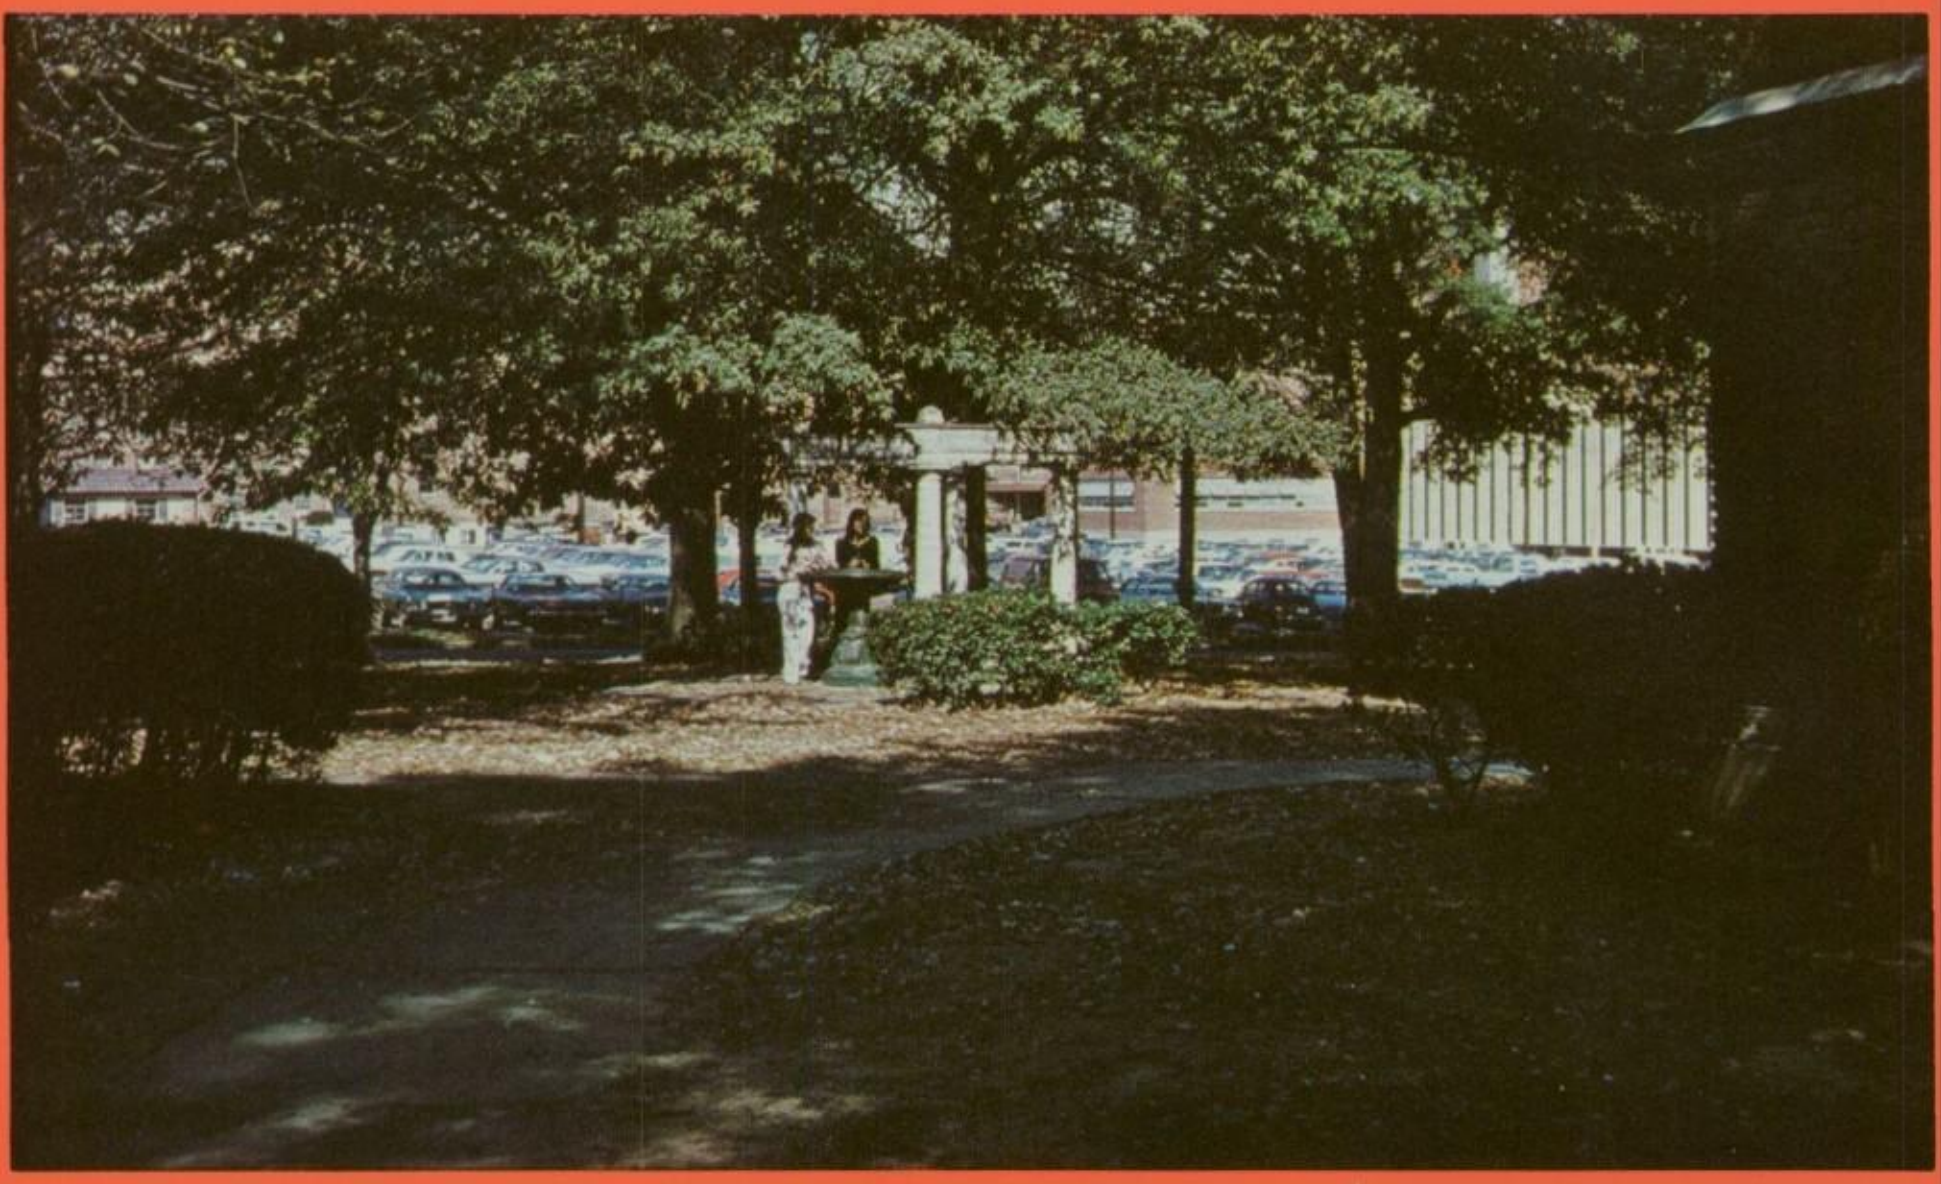
We all need something to buoy us up at the time of flood, to provide shelter from the scorch of burning rage. Things often seem so temporary, no more than flickering lights and shadows. Each day slips from your fingers, dreams fade, wither, die. You can spend ages of your life in agony or hurt, wondering why you are alive, why you even bother to breathe.

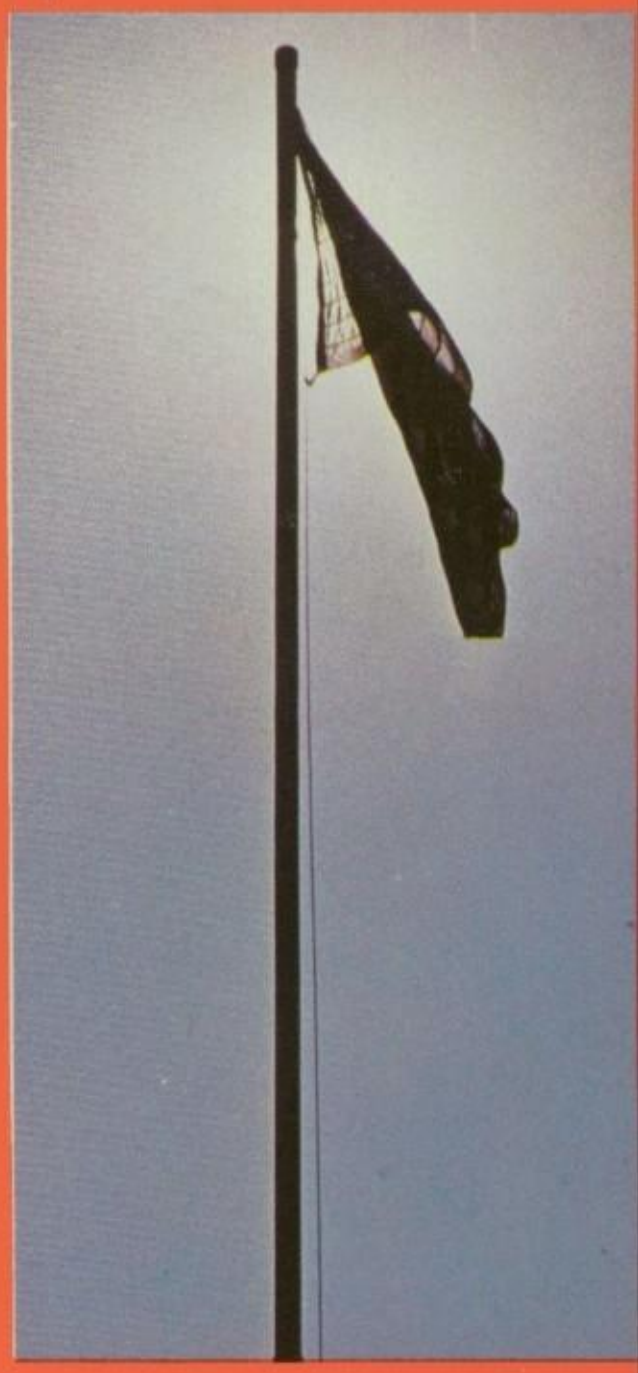
But breathe you do because you have something, after all, to cling to. You have, if nothing else, your own belief in the worth of life. Not because you must, but because you want to do you continue. In the end, and throughout the days before, the only thing which matters is that you have found cause enough to live. Decide "Yes" and live in joy, because if nothing else, you believe in what you have and you have that which you believe in.

Life is worth it.

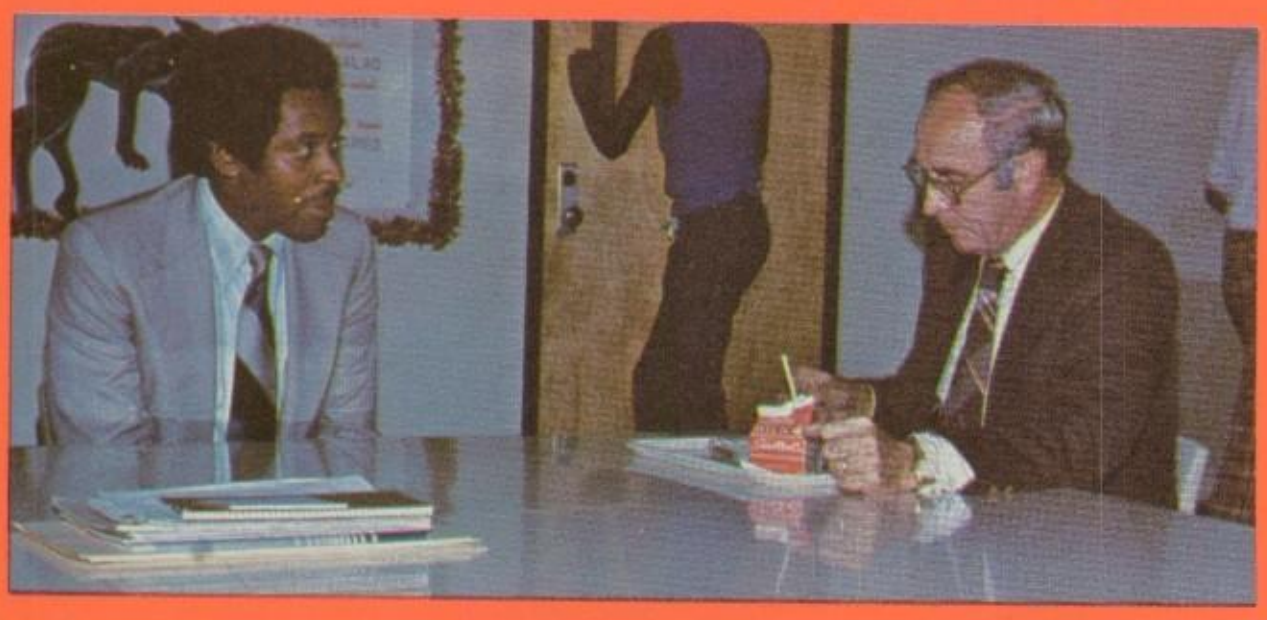


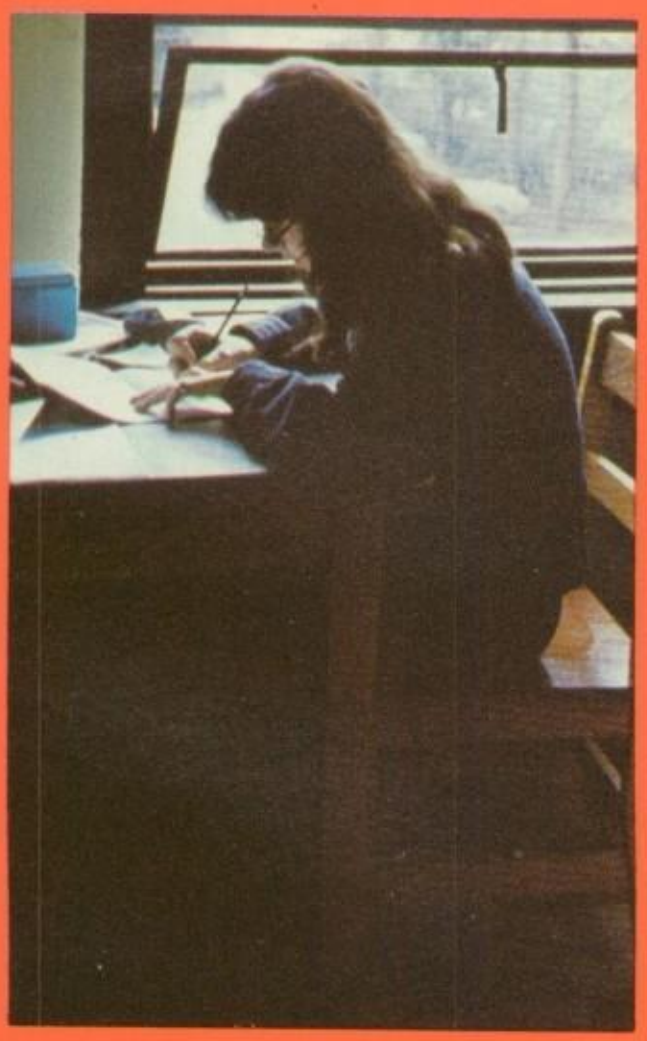






"It Takes Life To Love Life."





The times are hard and the nights are cold. Loneliness spawns within your gut like maggots in rotten meat and you ache with wondering how you will bear the rising sun again. And you had thought to come and have some fun, a little fling with life, and go when and how you pleased.

Now your dreams are torn and your tarnished crown hangs brittle and crooked on the wall. Suddenly you've discovered you're not the center of the universe. You feel all the world looks on you and quivers with taunting mirth. Silent laughter only you can hear haunts you and the wind that blows seems set against you.

If you think that, then you think wrong. No world stands against you - only behind and before you. You may not be the center of the universe, but you exist. Simply existing, you are equal to all things . . . the grass, the stars. You are a part, and you are necessary, whether you deem it so or not. A tree provides shade and fruit and silence, though the universe revolves around no single tree. The tree is content and stands, still. Be, still. Be still. Life doesn't owe you anything. That life has come to you is miracle enough. Accept that much only.

When agony and rage seek to overcome you, weep first and lay your hurt down, in offering, to that of which you are. Weep if you wish, but remember that weeping may not be relief but imprisonment. This sorrow that you feel will soon pass; all things must. Seek another road. Fight back in some way. Do whatever you must, but do not give up. Fight back! Don't die inside. Though life is tough - Stand. You are life, too. You have what it takes.

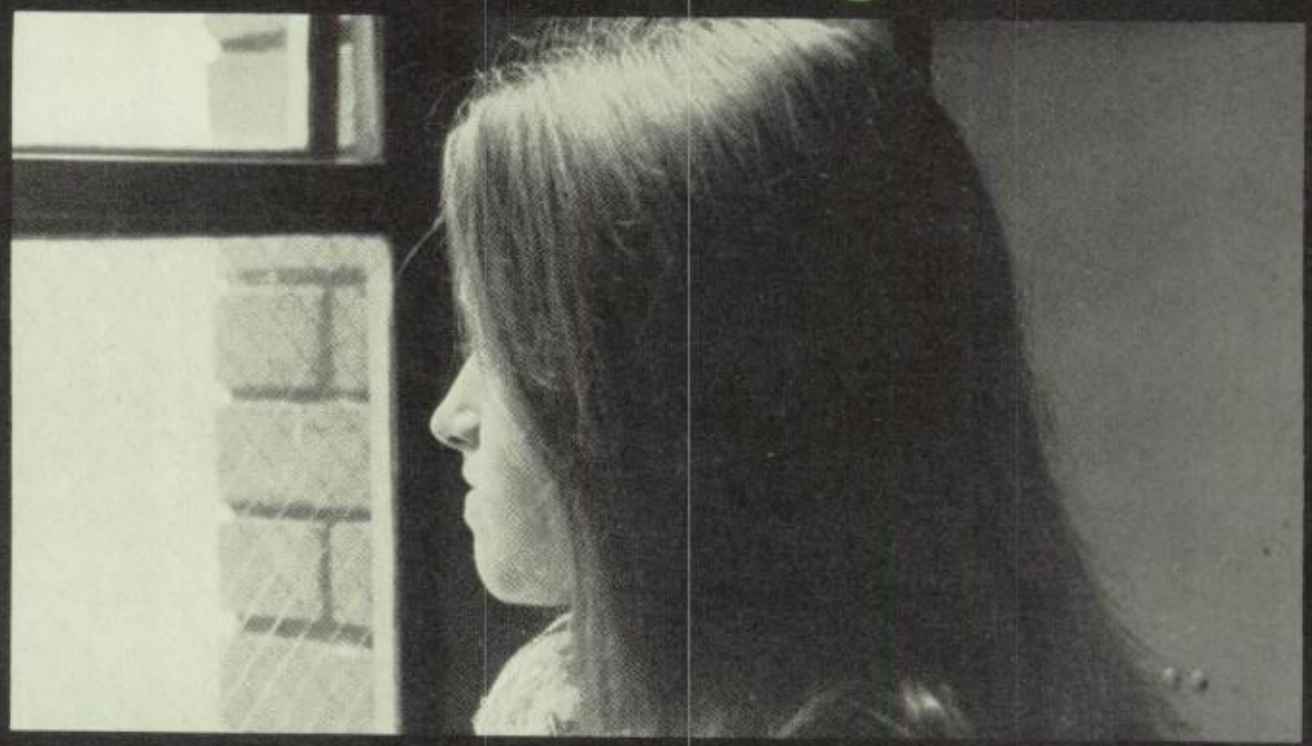
Do you want to blow the candle out? Is that what you seek? - simply to end it all and say goodbye? To leave it all behind to the stronger ones and go your merry way to wherever, not really caring, anyway? If so, then go. Slit your wrists, take the pills, turn on the gas - but first, think. Count first how many times you've said to yourself, "I don't want to go on living. I just don't care anymore." A hundred? Eight hundred? Count the things said and done, or left unsaid and undone, that have hurt you so that you no longer want to live. How many months have you spent in hell on earth? Five? A dozen? Add it all up - the moments, the years and ask one final question. Is it enough to risk a life on? Is it enough to risk death?

No, the risk is too great. Somewhere out there in that noisy, colorful, often lousy, big world is something worth living for.

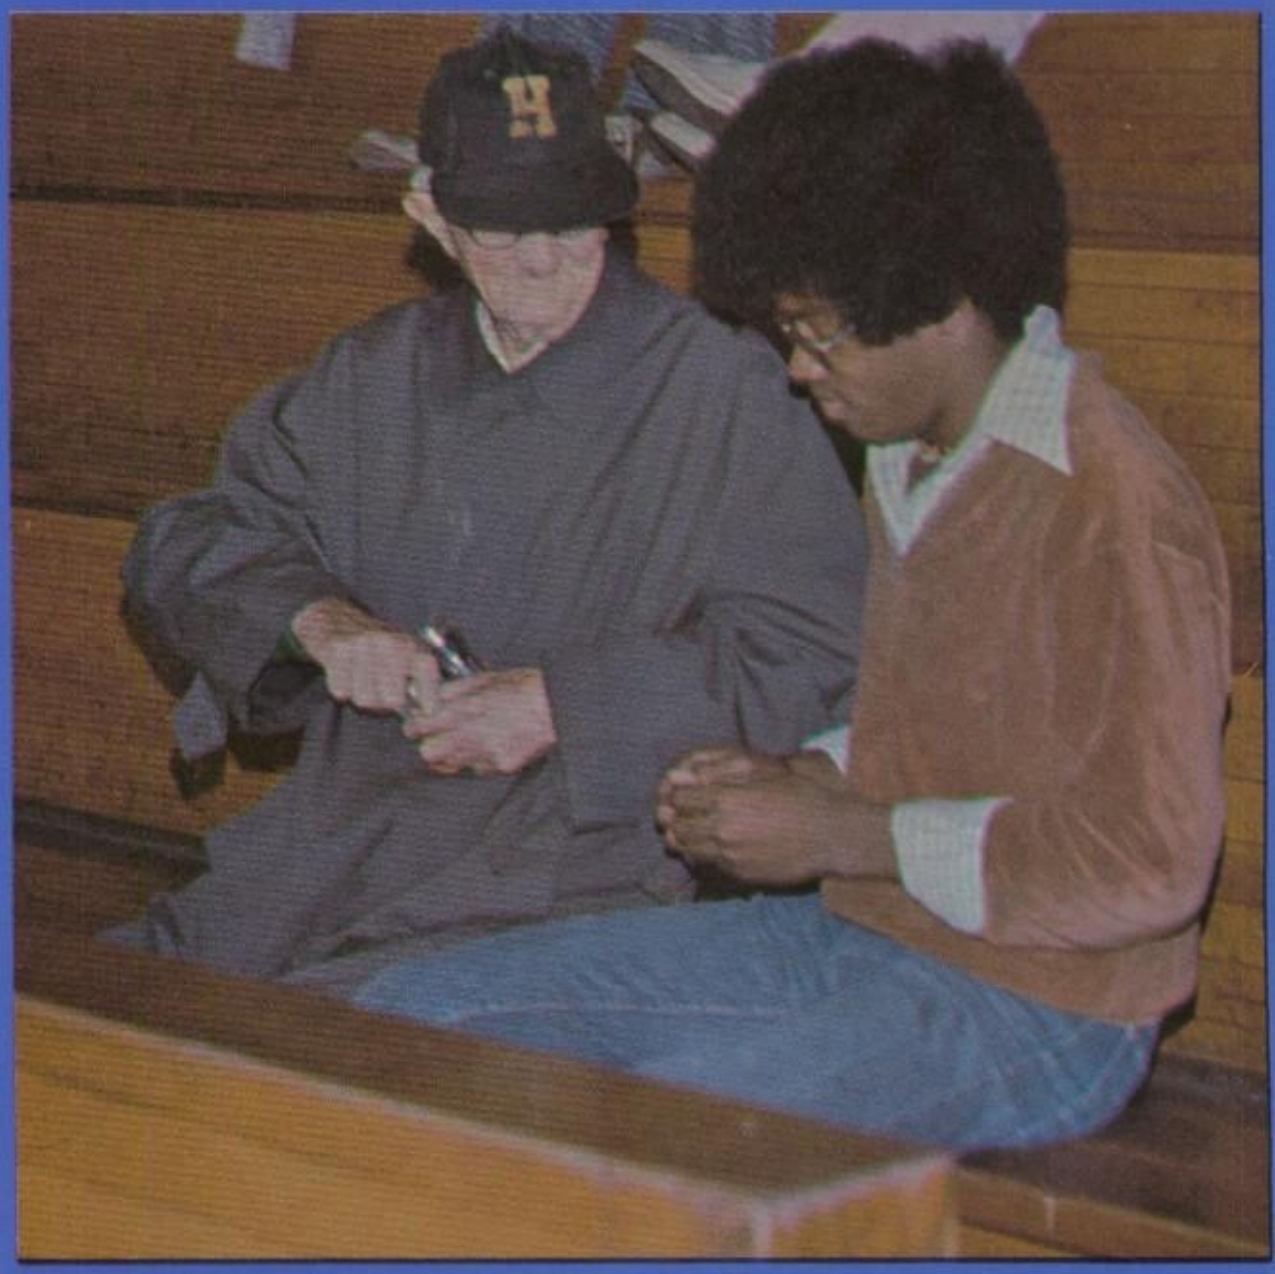
A clod of dirt feels good to the farmer's hand; it is the substance of life itself, warm and moist between his calloused fingers. Sunlight on water can be joy to the ready eye, a sign of unending goodness to heart which seeks to discover goodness. If you will, reason enough for life is yours - the laughter of kids tumbles in wild profusion in a summer-drenched yard. Soaked in happiness, they offer always the honesty of youthful eyes which have never looked to the evil and cruelty as you have. Life, for them, is more than a shadow; it is real. Bask within the glow of youth and life and you will know no sorrow, no mistake, no hurt that can be stronger than the unending joys of life.

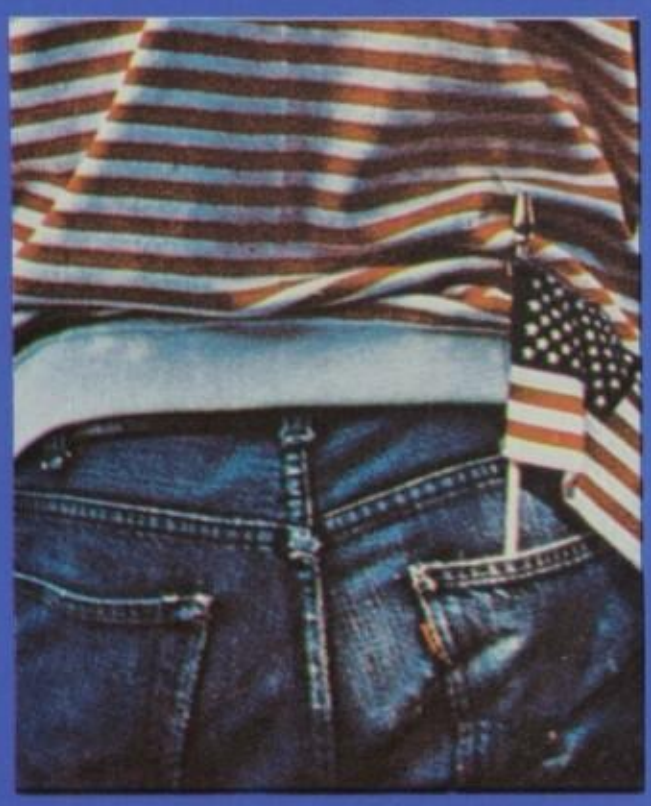
Let the candle burn.

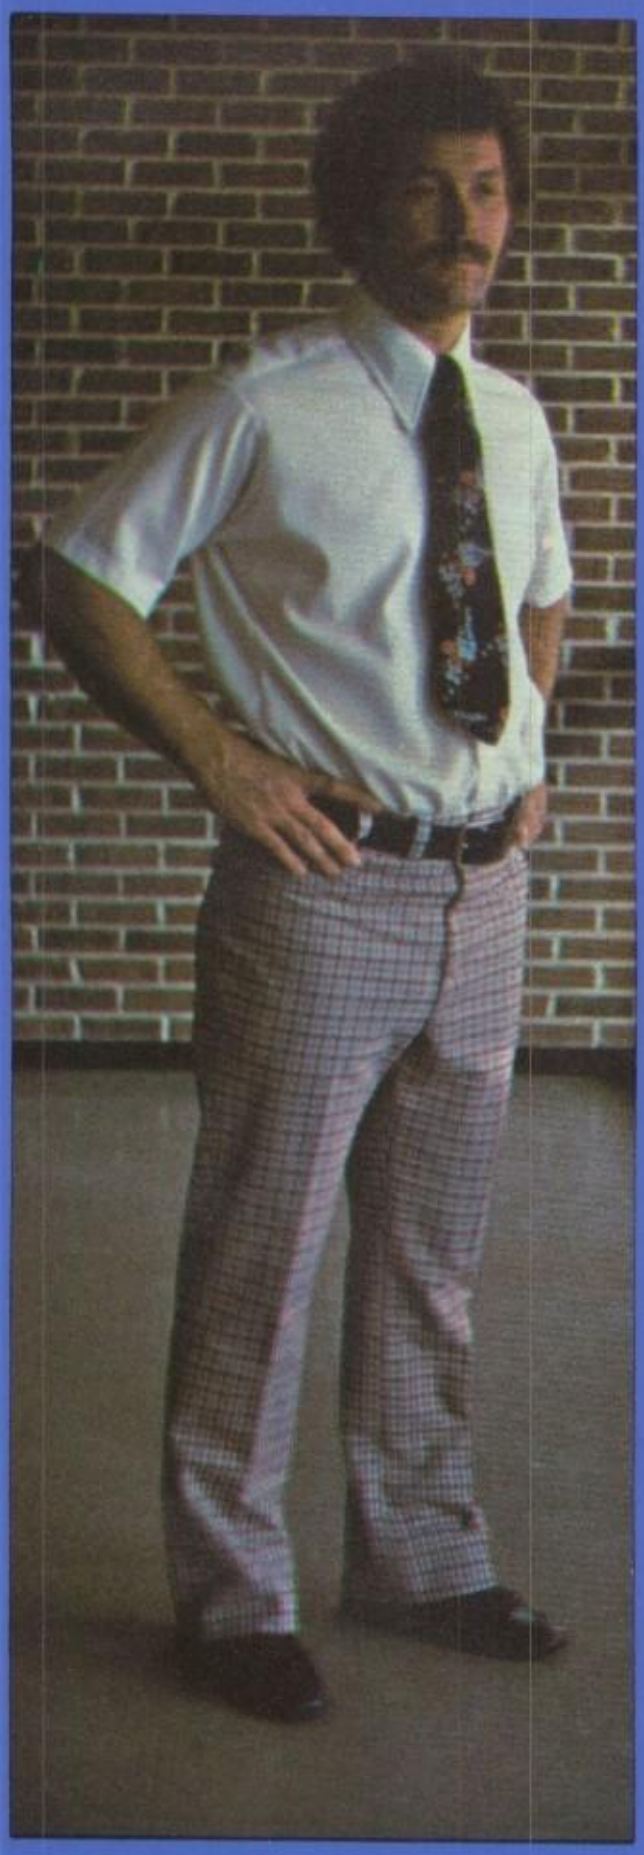
"Out, Out Brief Candle. Life's But A Walking Shadow."

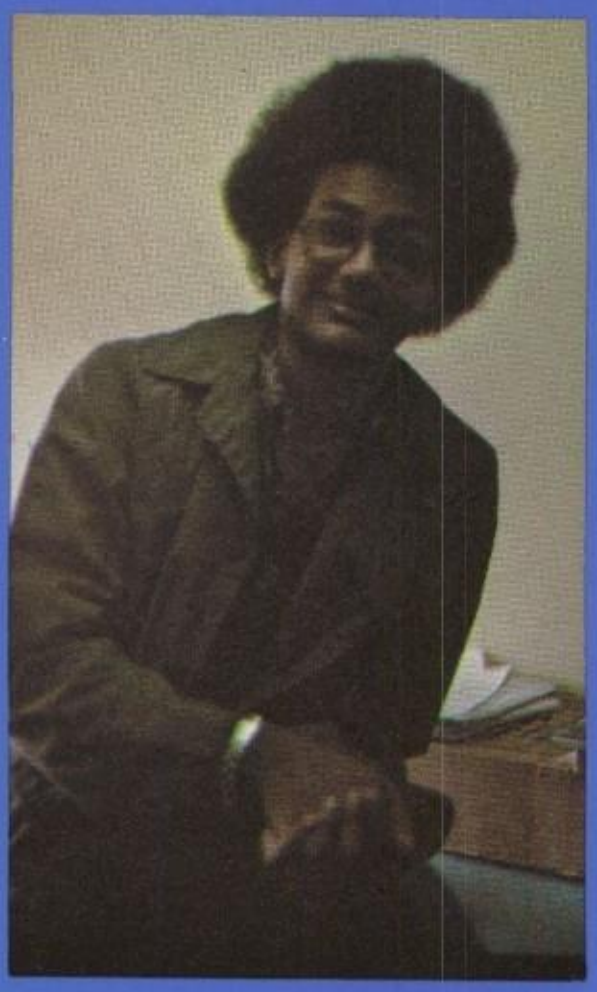


"Life Is Real! Life Is Earnest!
And The Grave Is Not Its Goal."









Life. You are given it, not because you asked for it, but because, in that great dance of life, a patter of notes has been given you to follow.

Perhaps they carry you to other lands and other ways. Then go! Travel, reaching always out to find the path. On your way, learn to see the colors of the sky, smell the scents of flowers vastly blooming across the landscape, hear the throb and rhythm of the music. The people you meet will become your people, and you theirs. Of the same blood your songs rise to entwine far above the earth where the sky is hollow and yearns toward a greater space. Go, if you must.

But if your dance leads not to farther lands, then be content and at peace where you have lived all your days. Live your days close to and in harmony with the place of your birth. Seek no other shore. Let your berthing be where it has always been. The colors and scents will blend and be muted within the pulse of a close music. You have been born to a life where the blood of your people has spilled and stained the ground. Consider such a home sacred; seek not to leave.

All homes, all places are good if you will but follow the music noted for you. Walk your own path, in joy always. Dance your dance, sing your song. Love without limit. Live without fear, for this life is yours - this unending spin and sprawl of movement - is real. It is yours to have. Reach out, now. Find someone and share the glory of sun and sky. Never believe this life is not real and true. Never think that death can destroy what you are and mean.

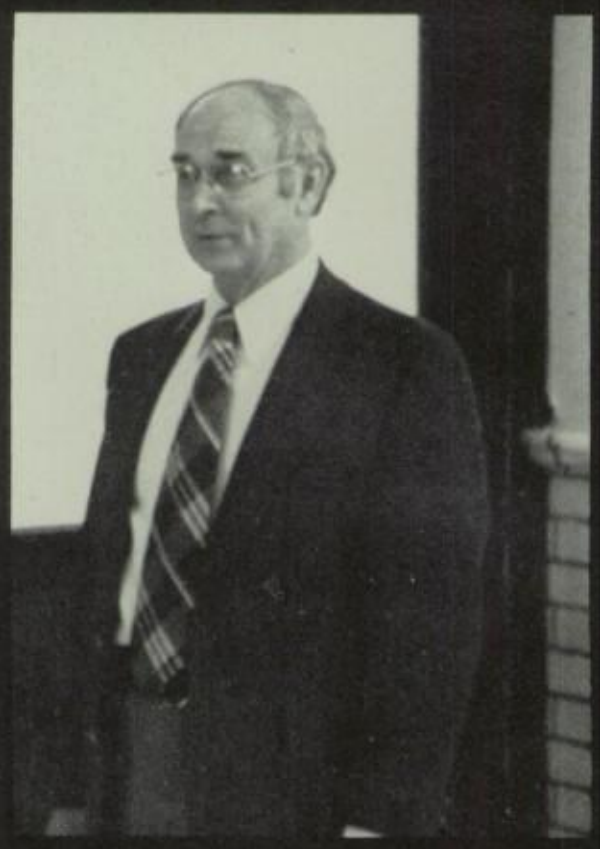
"Life Can Be Bitter To The Very Bone"

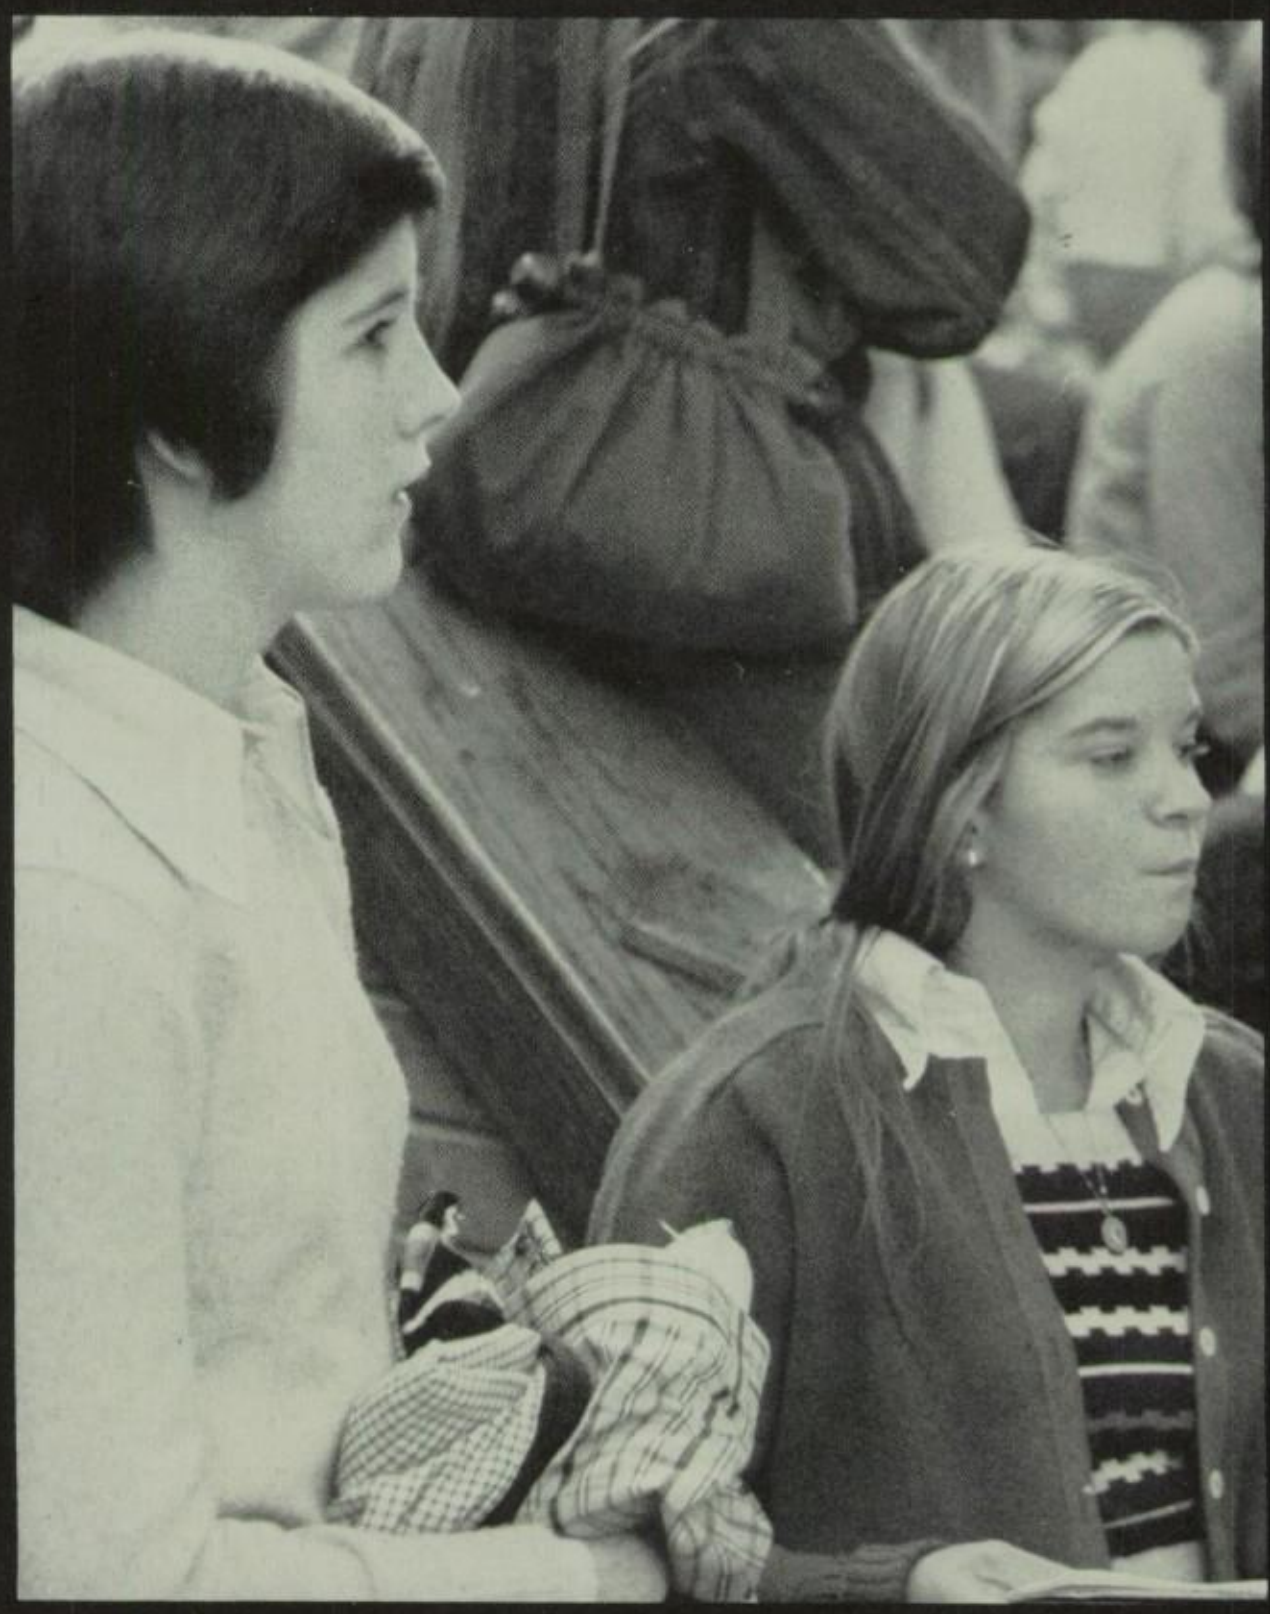
Yes, it can. Life can chew you up and spit you out without a backward glance. Suddenly you're alone and hurting. Loneliness itself is a strange thing. It can never be fully shared because each of us bears his own sorrow and trembles within his own fears. Each of us is caught believing he is the only one so truly alone.

But try to hang on. Although it seems you are alone - you are not. I go with you. In sorrow and darkness, I am beside you because I, too, have wandered a lonely road. Many times I have pressed my forehead to a cold window and stared out into the shadows. I have stood still, watching lights blink on and glare against the deepening sky. As the sun has died, I have. Loneliness has gripped me like stone; pain has tangled in me like brambles. I have worn thorn-woven crown and clothes - thorns of hurt, clothes of despair.

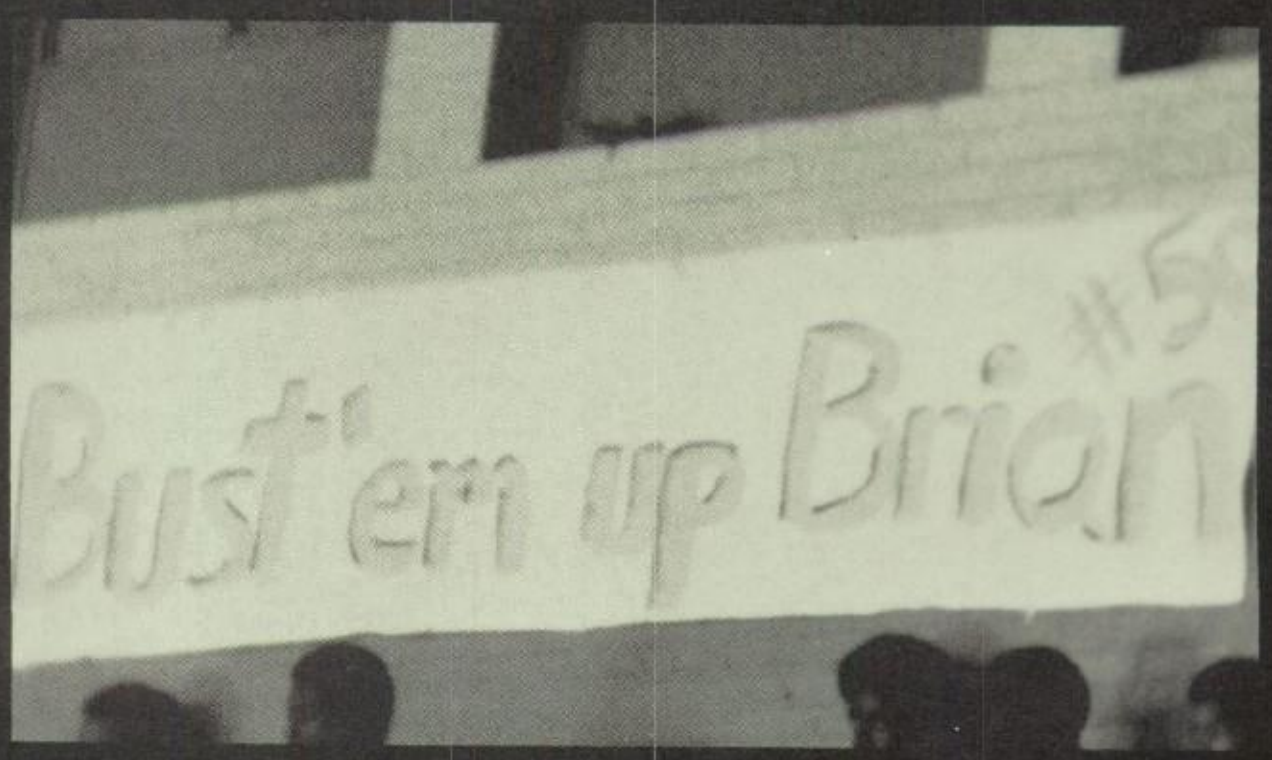
Oh yes, life can be bitter. Even so, you are not alone in its tangled web of cruelties. Somewhere, close to you a person waits, ready to reach out and help you. Don't leave him standing there, outside of your love. Let him in. Welcome him as the friend you have longed to find. He is. Then some day, looking back on the intricate and colorful pattern of your life, you may see a single, soft strand which shines to you and brightens as you remember. The cloth, the tapestry of your life has been woven both with what you are and what you have been to others. Once you see you are not alone, then those about you - those hurting, heavy with despair - will see the goodness of life in you. They, too, may find that goodness of life within themselves and will pass it on.

No one is truly alone. Know that; reach out and tell someone. Life can be bitter, but you are not alone.





CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL



Bust 'em up Brian

Mrs. Harriet Sanders

"If my words don't come together, listen to the melody, for my heart is in there hiding."

- Leon Russell

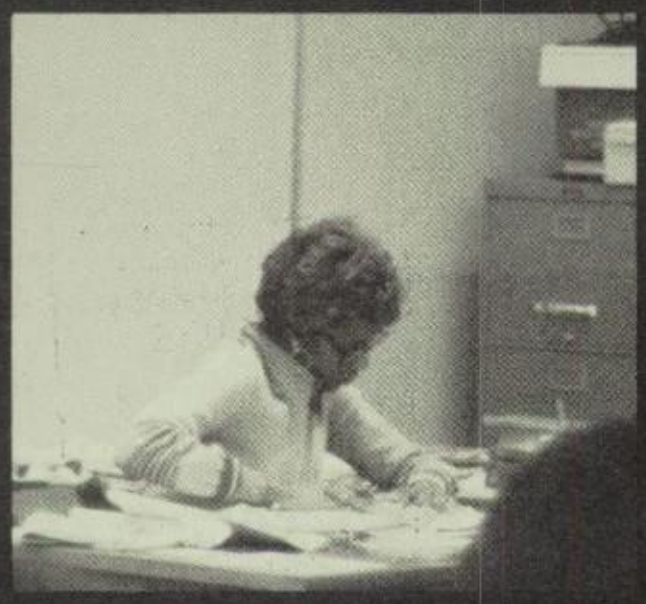
How does one pay tribute to the best school secretary in the Memphis City Schools? We might go back to her early years. Like so many of her generation, the Depression made it impossible for her to attend college. She married Murray Sanders and had two beautiful daughters. Theirs was a marriage dissolved only when Mr. Sanders died last year after a long illness. During these years she managed a beautiful family just as she managed for sixteen years Central's illustrious family.

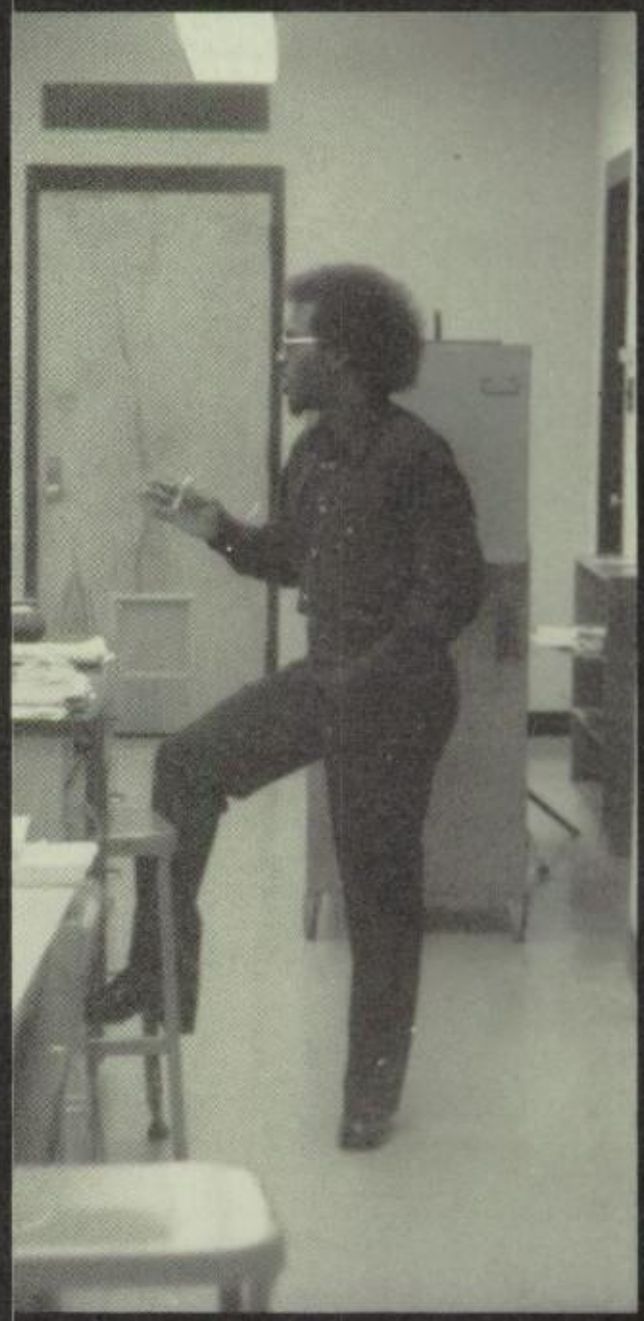
However, her just doing the work does not really sing her song. It was more the spirit with which she did this work. Always there was the smile and patient understanding that made her efforts even more gratefully accepted by all. Perhaps no other secretary in the city of Memphis reduced the secretarial demands placed on teachers as did Mrs. Sanders. Mr. Robert King and, after his retirement, Mr. John Simonton both have often praised her efficiency, excellence, good humor, and honesty. Perhaps most important of all though was the service to students who came to her for assistance.

Central will never be the same without her smiling face, gentle manner, and attractive appearance. It is true there is always someone to take the place of a retiree, but will there ever be another Mrs. Sanders?

Thank you, Mrs. Sanders, and best wishes for the future from all of us who are at Central today and the thousands of others who have known you these past sixteen years.

FACULTY AND CLASSES





Administrative Unit Serves School Community

LEFT - In the midst of a busy schedule, our principal Mr. Simonton glances up from his desk work. MIDDLE - High School Henry, Mr. Simonton and Miss Bowen watch patiently for our next touchdown. BOTTOM - Mr. McDougal lends a helping hand as supervisor of the candy counter.

Mr. John Simonton led the administration in his fifth year as principal. All of Central has benefited from his personal assurance and interest in the school and each of its students.

Our assistant principal, Mr. Lloyd McDougal, aided Mr. Simonton in his many duties.

This year a new administrative position was added. Mrs. Kay Nesbitt became Central's first Curriculum Coordinator. Her job was to make sure every student was taking the courses he needed.

Mr. John Stokes, administrative aide, spent much of his time patroling the halls making sure students were attending their proper class. His genuine concern for the students gained him respect.

Two experienced guidance counselors gave much of their personal time to help students with their needs. Mrs. Castle Brown and Dr. Eleanor Randle helped students decide on colleges and vocations that would be suitable and profitable for them.

Classified Personnel Helps To Better Central

Classified Personnel played an important part in the organization of school activities. Mrs. Betty Goldman served as secretary-treasurer and managed the accounts for various school clubs. The efficiency with which the office was run gave evidence of her efficient work.

Working in pupil services was Mrs. Hazel Dillingham. Her permanent position at Central calls for attending to the many problems that arise in registration, suspensions and attendance.

Mr. Joe Carraway and Mr. Fred Colston shared the responsibility of building engineer. Their diligent care kept the building equipment in good working order.

RIGHT - As part of her secretarial duties Mrs. Goldman keeps the bank records in order. Mrs. Dillingham runs off a schedule for the day's activities.

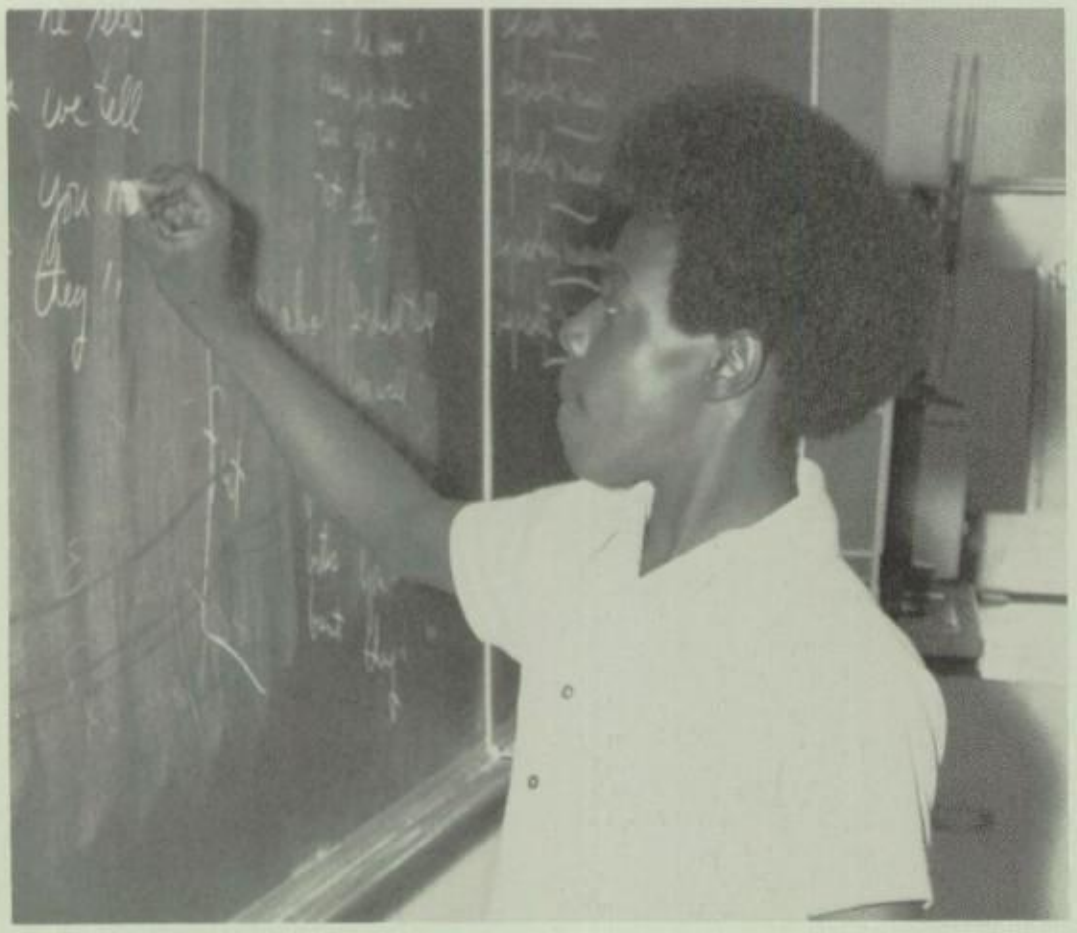
Language Students Learn Vocabulary and Background



Latin is offered to any student interested in the study of ancient Rome and its influence on modern languages. In addition to the grammar and vocabulary of Latin, the students learned of the history, customs, and literature of Rome. First and second year students studied such historic figures as Julius Caesar and Jason and the Argonauts. After learning the basic skills, the third and fourth year students somewhat relaxed aside from studying Virgil's AENEID.

To add variety to the French classes the students celebrated Cheese Day. This was a gathering of the French students in November to taste different French cheeses. First and second year students learned basic grammar. Daily quizzes and vocabulary exercises helped build a firm foundation for third and fourth year students as they read French stories and poetry.

Spanish classes under Mrs. Williams' direction learned more than a vocabulary, they acquired a knowledge of the history of Spain and Mexico. Passing Mrs. Williams' room one would hear first or second year students translating in unison. They also considered the class a lot of fun when singing Christmas carols in Spanish.

English Classes Concentrate on Literature

Skills in English, which included literature and grammar, proved to be the most essential in high school curriculum. Different types of literature included short story, poetry, novel, and mythology. Literature was a guide to understanding people of various eras. The classes participated in an in depth study of American and English authors and their works.

A firm foundation of grammar skills was usually obtained by the tenth grade and students concentrated on review in high school. Grammar was a study of the components of a sentence and how each structure is used. Diagramming simple, compound, and complex sentences was a large part of the course that led to better grammar usage. Three levels of classes were offered according to the ability of the student. Advanced Placement English was taught on a college level supplemented with special materials.

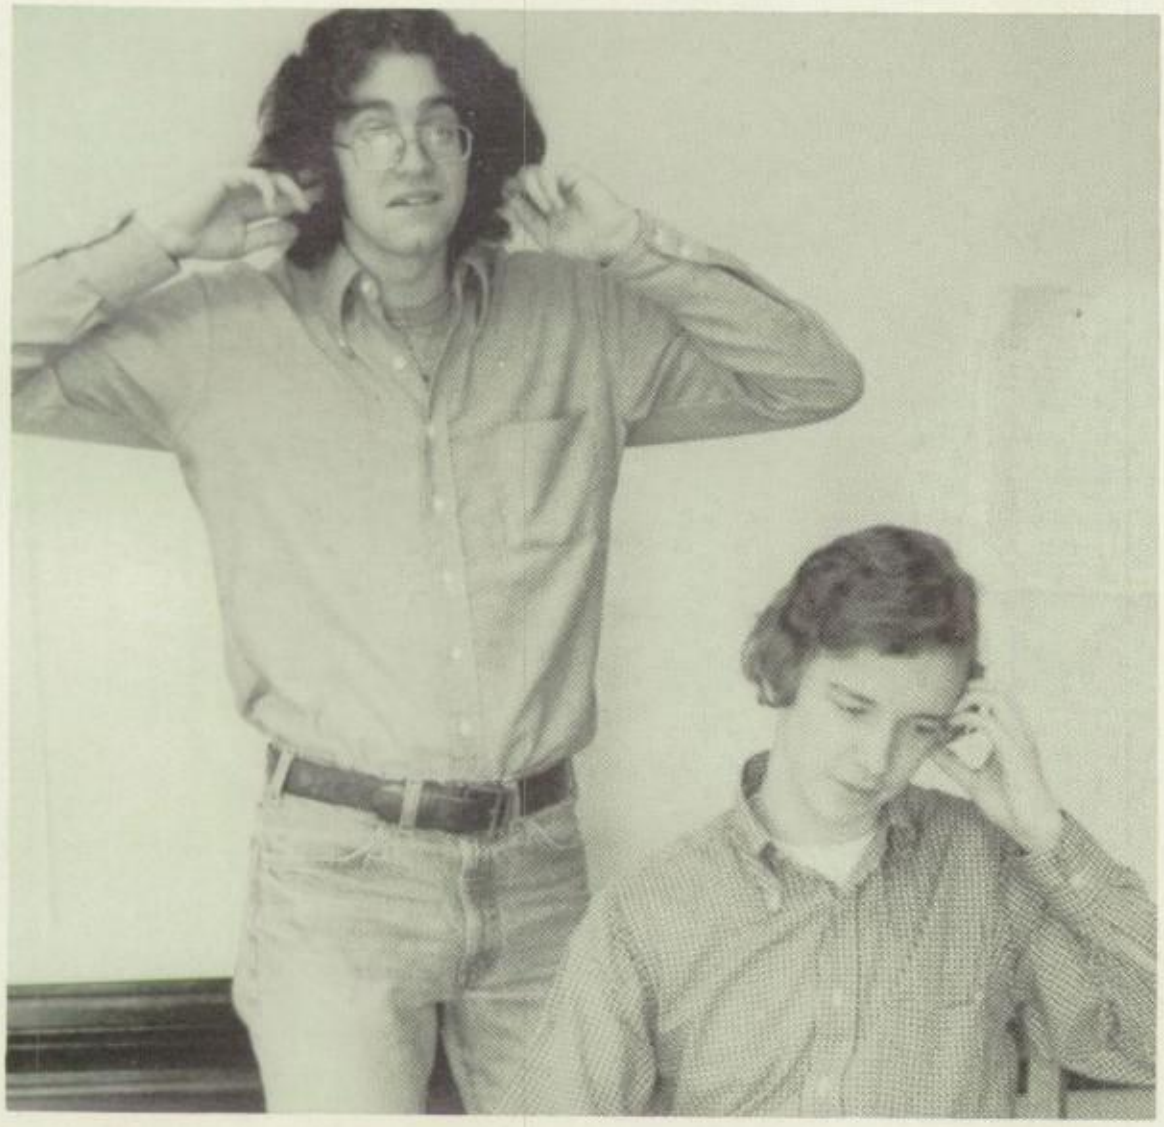
Tournaments Add to Speech Program



Central students interested in drama and public speaking were offered a course in basic speech. Shy students at the beginning of the year were transformed into poised speakers. An additional activity of the speech participants was the opportunity to compete in various tournaments throughout the year. Those wishing to further their capabilities attended workshops to gain experience.

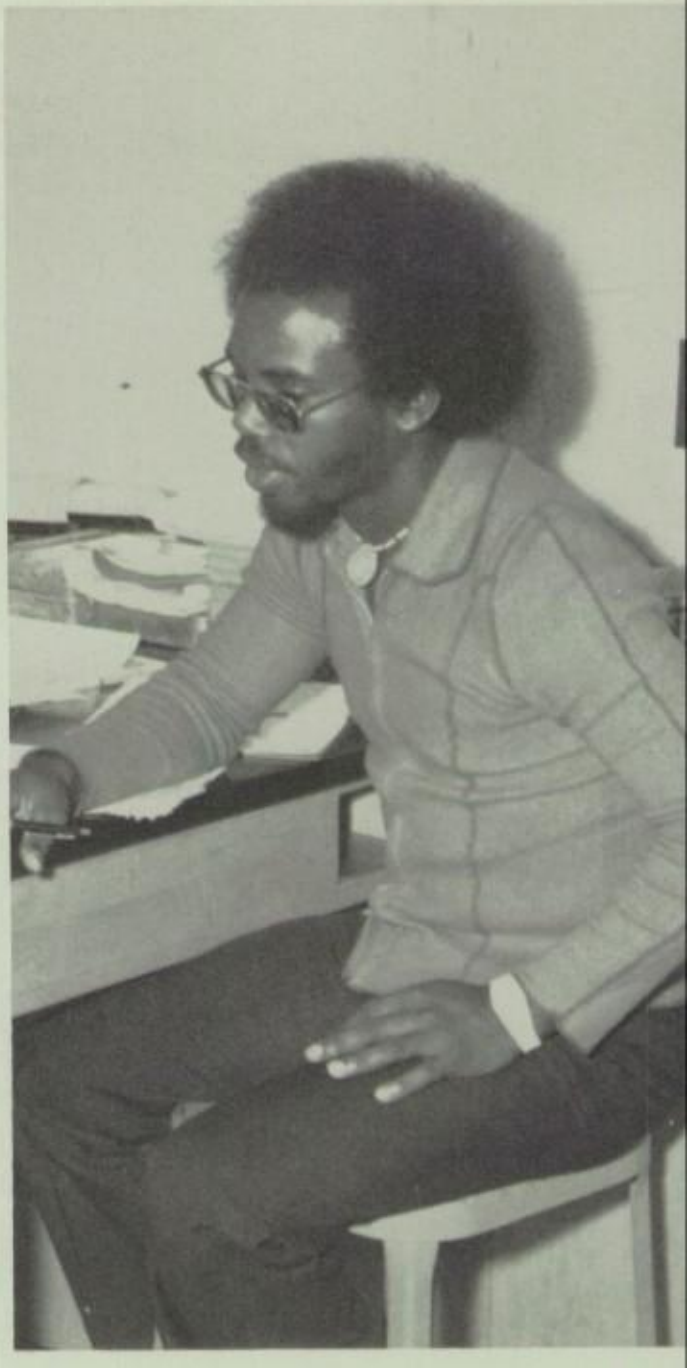
Experiments Help Science Students Gain Knowledge



For those students who desired to further their study of science, Central offered courses in biology, chemistry, physics, and A.P. biology and a combination of advanced subjects.

Biology students experimented with different chemicals in order to expand their knowledge in many capacities. There was also a section of science which included the study of the human body and its function.

Chemistry students studied elements, substances, and compounds.

Physics students built and tested electrical circuits, studied the transmission of sound, and performed experiments with the condensation of water.

Five Year Math Students Prepare for College

The mathematics department at Central was well known for its variety and wide choice of subjects.

Most students began their curriculum with Geometry. They were concerned with different geometric shapes and angles. Algebra followed with graphing and solving quadratic equations. Trigonometry was a more advanced class involving sines, cosines, and tangents and their laws applying to angles. The Advanced Placement calculus class completed the five year math course. Through the math tournaments held each year, it was possible for students to obtain college credit.

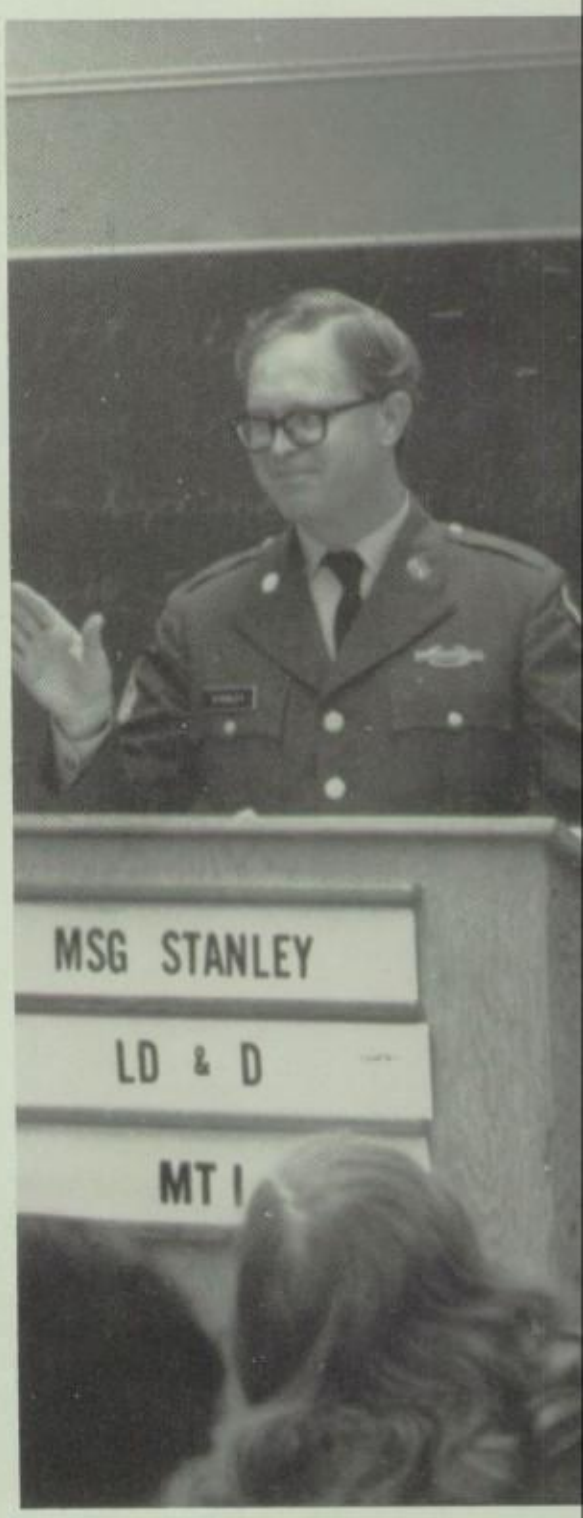
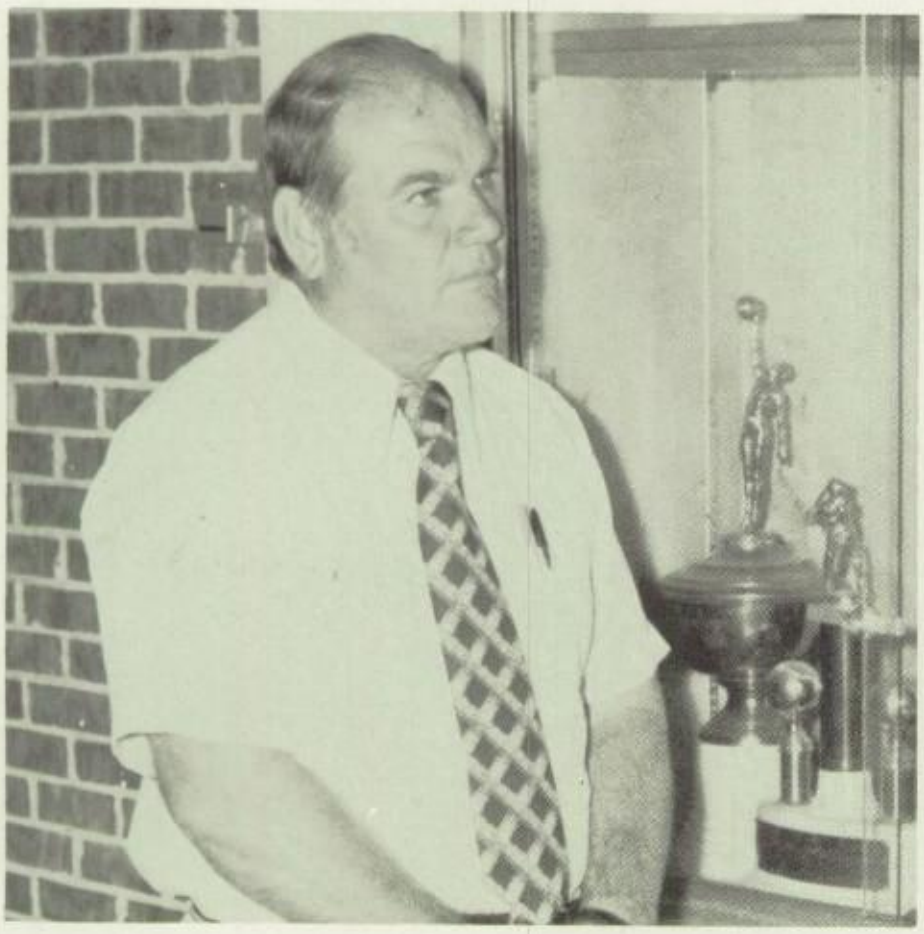
The development of qualified leaders was the principal goal of the ROTC. In an effort to instill cadets with a spirit of pride, patriotism, and discipline, the Central High Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps completed its fifty-sixth year. Although there were several different teams and extra activities, classroom work was still essential. This year, as in past years, Central's ROTC department marched in the Veterans Day Parade.



Gym Classes Aid in Physical Development



The physical education classes were offered to boys and girls who wished to gain practical skills in health and sports.

One six weeks of the girls' gym classes was spent learning about personal health, diseases, and the effect of each. The remainder of the course consisted of developing the skills and fitness of the girls. They worked to improve their volleyball, basketball, softball and badminton skills.

The boys' physical education classes concentrated on basketball and baseball and improving in each sport. The gym classes participated in intramurals to gain skill in these sports.

Talent Found in Fine Arts Classrooms

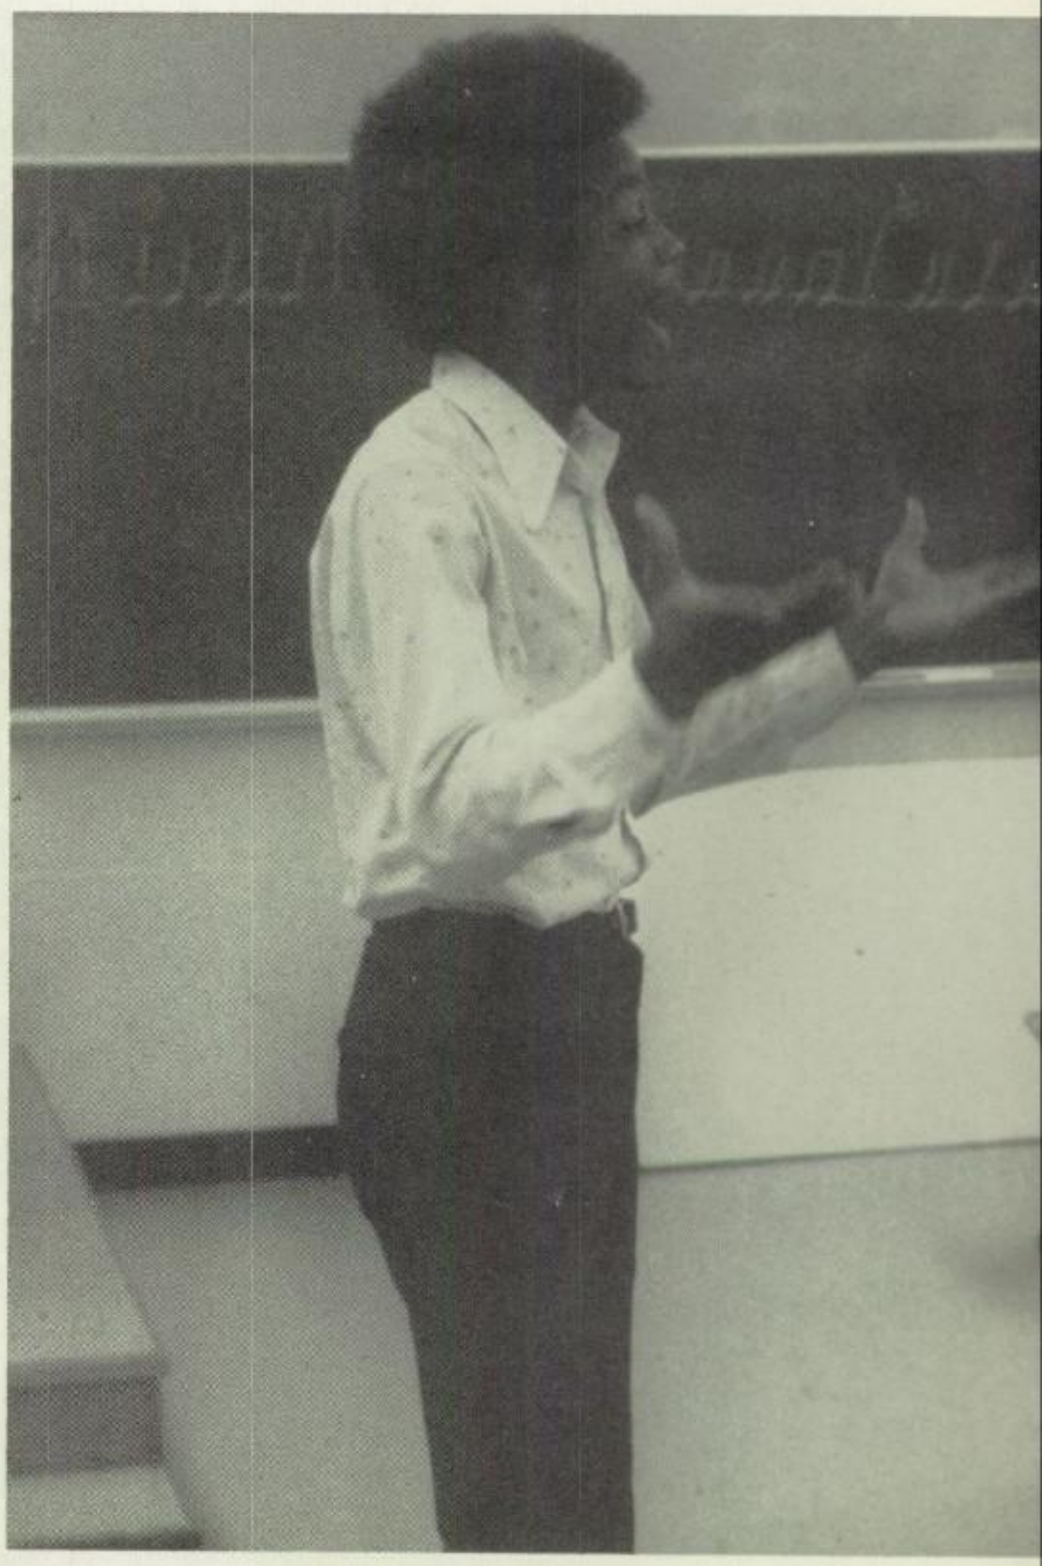
Concert Choir; Gospel Chorus.



Art students learned new skills this year in the art classes. First year students began with sketching, drawing, and painting, while second and third year students advanced to ceramics and pottery. Several new semester courses that concentrated on one area of art were added to this year's curriculum.

Vocal music students learned about the different types of music from other countries. They also studied the origin of jazz and rock music. The chorus, choir, and gospel chorus did quite well in their many fine performances throughout the year.

This year's stage band students became familiar with many different pieces of contemporary music. The group competed in the annual jazz band contest at Memphis State which was held in February.

Business Education Students Prepare for Future

LEFT - Coach White - Typing; General Business. BOTTOM - Accurate typing required learning key positions then perfecting skills in timed practices.

Enrolling as a typing student called for many hours of practice to increase speed and accuracy. First year students concentrated mainly on learning the keyboard and finger placement. Learning on manual typewriters helped to build up the finger muscles for increased endurance.

Advanced typing and office machines was a more in depth course offered to students who continued with second year of typing. The students practiced on electric typewriters. After learning the basic skills, students took timed writings to gain the speed required in office and clerical work.

Learning shorthand was like mastering a whole new language. What appeared to be a page full of squiggles was actually a very important message. The students sat through hours of dictation necessary for acquiring the speed required.

Another basic business course offered was bookkeeping. Accomplishing the balancing of bank books and financial records was the main objective involved.

History Students Strive to Understand Social Sciences

Social science courses also included those which taught students about man, his place in society and the means by which he retains his place in society.

Sociology, a semester class, emphasized man's role in society and the institutions which help him to retain his role. The class was aided by films and several guest speakers.

Economics, a new high school required class, taught students about the economy of the world.

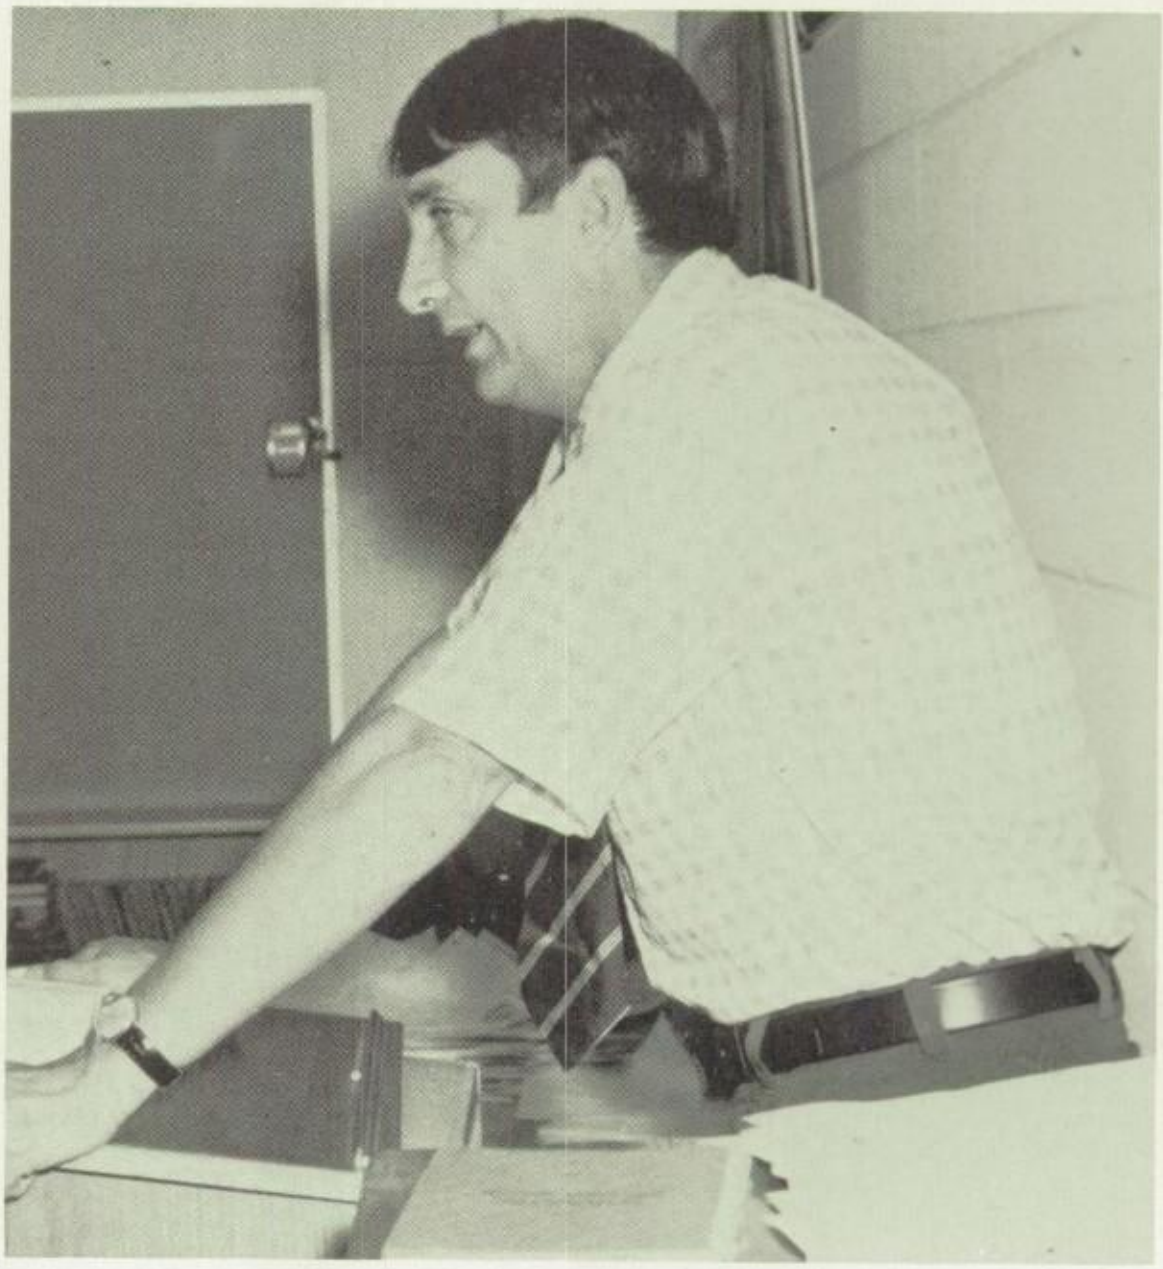
Social Science teachers tried to instill within their students a knowledge of the world and its past, since an understanding of past history leads to a better comprehension of today's world. Social science classes consisted of world history, world geography, American history, psychology, sociology and economics.

World history class members watched films and read many books in their attempt to learn about today's world. World geography classes concentrated on better understanding the people abroad by studying foreign countries. They also learned the legal processes involved in the leadership of a country.

American history classes learned about their country's past with the help of much outside research and class discussion. They studied both past mistakes and accomplishments in American politics.



Vocational Courses Emphasize Practical Skills

Students studying mechanical drawing became proficient in the use of the drawing tools used by architects and draftsmen. Although the course was not strictly vocational, the knowledge gained and skills acquired were valuable in many fields of engineering.

Radio classes studied the principles of electronics and communication. Not only did the pupils learn about the operation of television and radio sets but they explored many facets of broadcasting and related fields of electronics.

On the job training and practical experience in the working field was the climax of the preparatory study in D.E. The first year students learned the fundamentals of operating a cash register and the rules of filling out income tax reports. On the job training gave the second year students an opportunity to preview working situations.

Girls gained beneficial knowledge of practical skills from the home economics courses at Central. As future homemakers, first and second year students received one semester in cooking and one in sewing whereas a full year in either field was offered to third year students.

The culinary arts were explored extensively in cooking classes with the girls learning proper diet and nutrition. In sewing classes, students studied many aspects of household management. Besides learning how to select a pattern and sew a garment, the students studied financing, family relations and etiquette.

Safety on the road and knowledge of the automobile were the main goals of the Driver's Education course at Central. The course was divided into two parts, classroom in which the rules of the road were taught, and actual driving. The second half included instruction in the simulator and driving on the road under the guidance of an instructor.

WARRIOR SONG

Come on, you Warriors; up on your toes;
Give your best to old Central.
Break down those barriers
And up at your toes;
We are with you in glory or defeat.
So let us try to keep our banners
high;
Carry onward to victory;
Rah for the Green and rah for the Gold,
Central High School.

- Ernest F. Hawke

Cheerleaders Ignite Spirit Among Students

Spirited and energetic are two ways to describe this year's cheerleading squad who earned excellent and superior ribbons at Ole Miss this summer. Their unfailing power to get the Warriors on their feet made them a popular addition to Central. Under the direction of Mrs. Alexander, each day, during and after school, the girls practiced. Whether the team lost or won, the girls continued to boast the excitement of every game.

Major Departments' Efforts Pay Off

Central's math and speech departments have been two of the strongest in the school the past several years. This year was no exception. Students from both departments captured honors in city and state wide competition.

Competitive Centralites Gain Honor and Recognition

Part of Central's proud history is the traditionally high standards the students set for themselves. In various city and state-wide competitions, Centralites proved to be outstanding again. In such diverse fields as science, mathematics and music, Central students excelled. Just as students were proud to be a part of Central's student body, Central was proud of her students.

Spirits Soar as Homecoming Draws Near

This year Central's homecoming week included a variety of activities ranging from the traditional spirit chain sales to the sock hop on 50's day.

Enthusiasm which grew each day, climaxed that Friday with the annual homecoming pep rally and game followed by the dance that night.

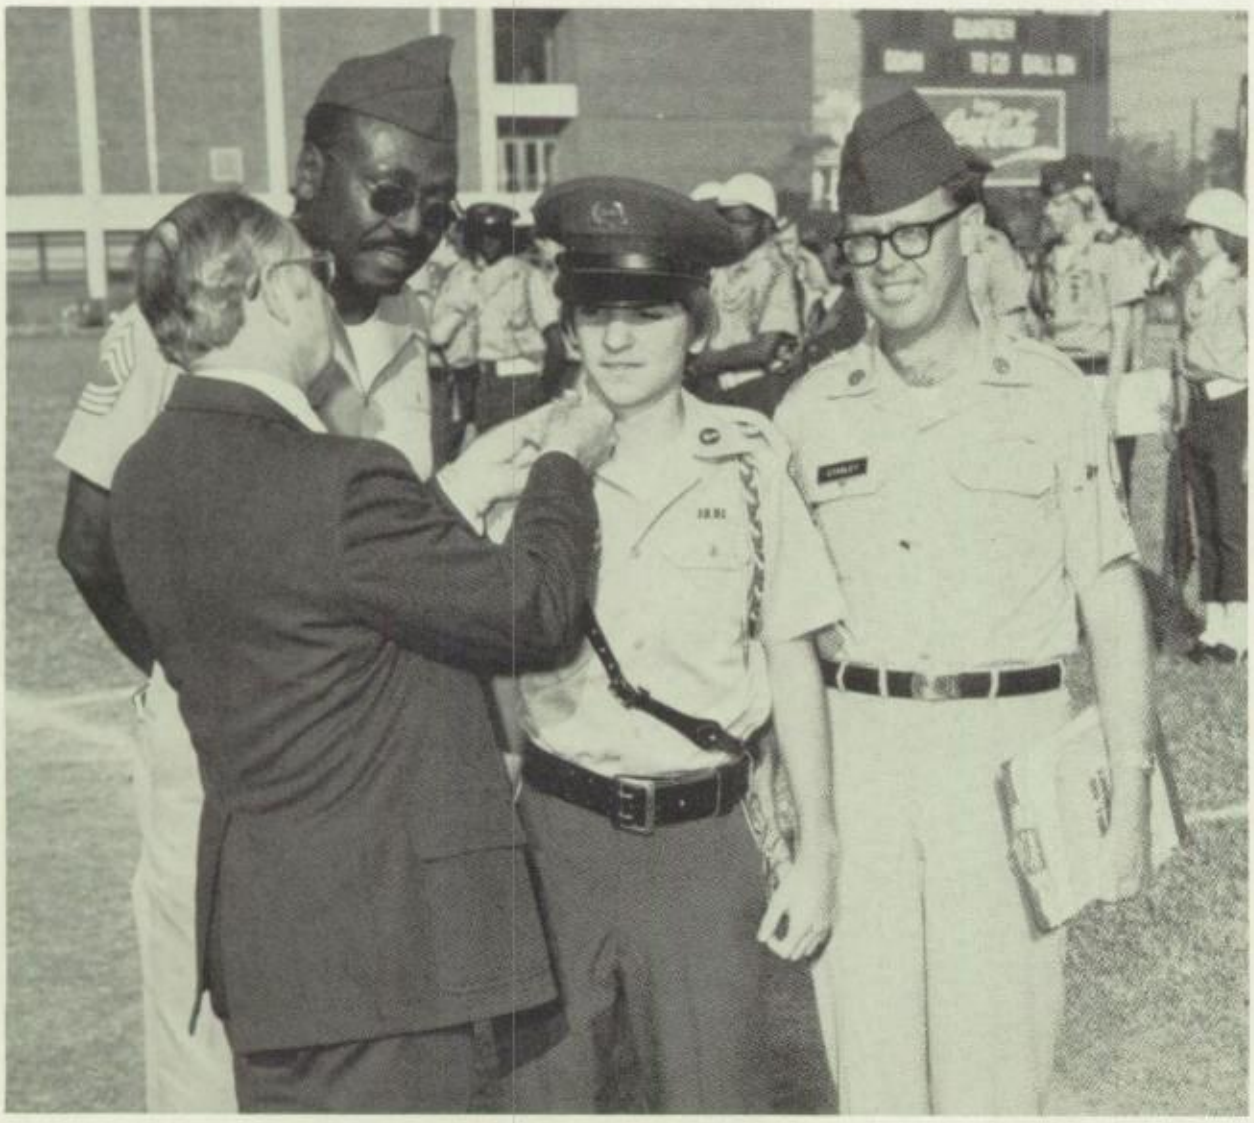
The Robin Hood Players, a troup of aspiring young actors from Phoenix, Arizona, arrived at Central during Thanksgiving week to stage their production of "Cochise."

This is the story of a proud and vengeful Apache protecting a young white boy who has adapted to the Indian way of life and feels that he is truly an Apache at heart.

The play, held during activity period, helped raise much needed finances for the yearbook. A second program was presented by the Robin Hood Players in April.

Honors Bestowed Upon ROTC Members



As a popular facet of Central life this year, the ROTC department was a source of pride accentuated by the presentation of many different awards and honors.

The picture to the left depicts a more solemn moment. Jack Miller receives the rank of Battalion Commander from Mr. Simonton as ROTC Sergeants Stanley and Barrett look on.

Highlight Winter Activities

Central's student body became thoroughly wrapped up in the whirl of activity during the winter months. With the coming of Valentine's Day the Student Council sold red balloons and paper valentines during homeroom. The ultimate in sending a "sentimental word" came in the form of singing valentines performed by the Student Council and Senior Class Officers during both lunch periods.

Raising money for the senior prom posed a serious problem until Goo-Goos arrived. The Senior Class promptly went to work peddling peanut clusters to students, and the "goo-goo goodies" easily proved themselves a winning means of financial aid.

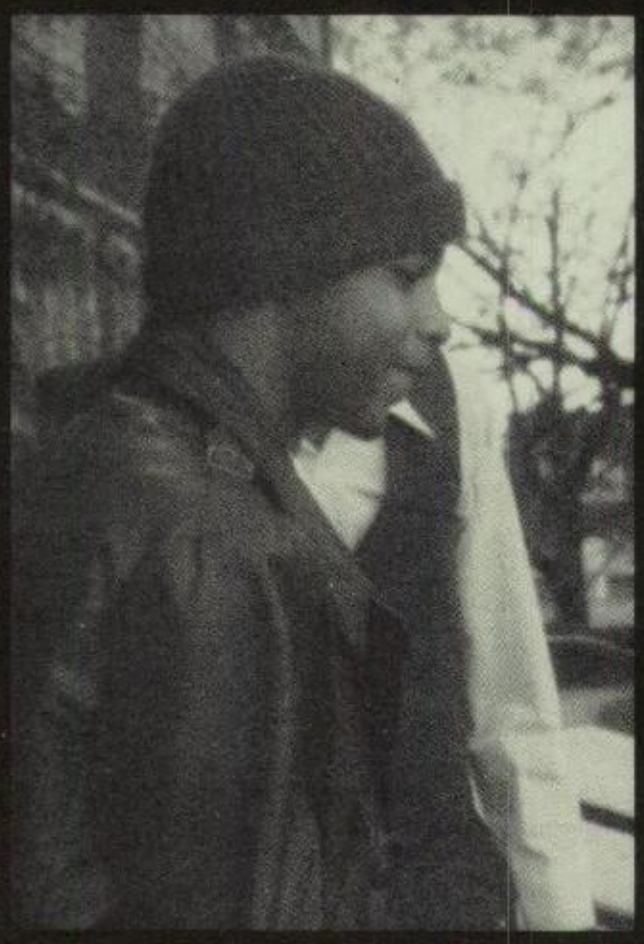
ORGANIZATIONS



Student Council Provides Effective Government

The Student Council, the student's voice in school administration, promoted spirit and pride among Centralites through its various undertakings. The Student Council was responsible for most assembly programs, which included Veteran's Day, the Christmas Program, the Talent Show and a Black History Program. Traditional projects, such as the production of the Freshman Orientation Program and the sponsoring of the Homecoming Dance, were continued with their usual success, while other activities were revised to increase their appeal to students.

Mu Alpha Theta Expresses Community Interest

Central proudly claimed a chapter to the honorary Math Club, Mu Alpha Theta. A 3.5 overall average and 4 years of math were rewarded by membership in the club.

Most of this year's activities were aimed towards entertaining people at different rest homes during Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holidays. Members usually entertained by providing music and refreshments. The members also sold trees for Christmas, brought from Mr. Pennington's farm. The activities sponsored by this club were once again a success.

'Warrior' Captures Important Events of Year

This year's annual staff felt a sense of accomplishment after the agony and rush necessary in preparing a comprehensive annual. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Nesbitt, fund raising projects and ad sales accompanied hard work on the part of each member of the staff.

As before, grades were given for annual staff participation and one-half credit was received. During the summer each member had to sell $50 worth of ads and $50 more dollars was due at the end of the first semester. The editors, guiding the rest of the staff through the year, were Pat Graham and Kathy Drake.

New Format of Newspaper Proves a Success

In addition to covering student activities during the year the "Warrior" newspaper took polls to find out what type of paper adequately interested the students. It was concluded that the old format would be changed to a "magazine-type." The new style has gone over well with the students. Other areas of interest in the paper were a review column of recent concerts, an editorial column and an extra page of original works by students in the Christmas issue.

These items helped to stimulate interest among the students and keep the "Warrior" a valuable news media at Central High.

Honor Society Promotes Student Leadership

Leadership, scholarship, character, and service were the qualities necessary to be eligible for membership in the Charles P. Jester chapter of the National Honor Society. The Honor Society was sponsored by Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Williamson. The National Honor Society was created to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of strong character in students.

Among the group's activities were the Honors Day Program which was held at the end of the first semester, and the biggest project of the year, the induction of new members, helped to uphold the standards of the Central High School Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Band Helps Boost Spirit of '76

Mingled with shouts of "Go Warriors" and "Rip 'em up," the Central Band regularly blared out the fight song, "Rock Around the Clock," and a medley of songs to boost spirits at the football games and pep rallies.

The band put in many hours of hard work to produce a special half-time show for the Homecoming game. After football season, Central's Band began a lively series of parades and concerts, among them are Veterans Day Parade and Spring Concert. The traditional standards of the Central High School Band were indeed continued this year.

Chorus Captures Honors in State Competition

Music has played an important role in the spirit of Central. Under the leadership of Mrs. Smith, the chorus put in many extra hours of work to provide the student body with entertaining programs. Along with the Chorus, the Gospel Choir proved to be an active group in demand. They performed for many loyal churches and have claimed high honors in state-wide contests in Jackson, Tennessee.

The Chorus sang for the Freshman Orientation Program, the Christmas program and performed with the band in the Spring Concert.

Abundant Interest in Spanish Culture Exists

Students taking Spanish and interested in the Spanish culture gained membership in the Spanish Club. The officers planned to provide activities that would increase the knowledge of the customs and the life of people in Spanish speaking countries. Slides were shown and songs were sung as various entertainment was presented. The highlights of the year were the Christmas Party and a Spring fiesta. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Williams this year's Spanish Club proved to be one of the most active ever.

Latin Club Stimulates Interest in Roman Culture

The Latin Club was not only organized for Latin students but for any student interested in the study of ancient Rome and its influence on modern languages. This year's Latin Club raised money for their trip to St. Louis by selling posters and patches. In the spring, the students competed in the Latin Tournament at Memphis State and received many honors.

Interest in German Festivities Spurs New Club

As a result of the increasing interest in the German language and culture, a German Club was formed this year. The small but active group participated in many German festivities, including an Oktoberfest sponsored by M.S.U. in November, and the state-wide German Festival in Knoxville in the spring. Hopefully, interest will continue in this reconstructed European Country.

French Club Sparks Study of French Culture

The French Club, made up of students taking French and those who have taken it before, started this year with its annual "Cheese Day" event. It was held on Armistice Day and members gorged themselves with a selection of cheese including Gouda, Port Wine, Brie, and Camembert. Another event planned for this year was the French Banquet where members prepared French dishes. Ms. Jacobs, the new French teacher at Central, sponsored the group.

Pep Club Arouses Spirit in Student Body

The abundant supply of school spirit at Central this year could be attributed to the hard work of the students who made up the Pep Club. They met the night before each pep rally along with the cheerleaders. They planned clever skits and painted signs to decorate the gym. The pep was not only generated throughout the student body but also among the varsity players. The dedicated members of this organization contributed much to Central's spirit.

Chess Club Develops Specialized Skills

The Chess Club at Central was made up of students whose main interest was broadening their minds and skills in chess. Anyone with an interest in chess was invited to be a member. Sponsored by Miss Crump, the club participated in many tournaments throughout the year.

H-Club Promotes Athletic Spirit

Members of the H-Club include students who have participated and met the requirements in football, girls' and boys' basketball, baseball, girls' and boys' track and who have received an athletic letter. Athletic letters are awarded to students who attend practice regularly, compete in their event, and contribute to the success of their team.

Homeroom Presidents Beautify Campus

The assembly of Homeroom Presidents claimed representatives from every homeroom. They met to discuss the procedure for their annual projects. In December, they planted trees around the campus to beautify the school. During the spring, eligible students gained membership into the Order of the Redman, an honorary group of responsible students who encourage spirit at Central.

VICA Members Learn Technical Skills

The purpose of the Vocational Industrial Club of America concerns working with electronics. The members work with the lighting and sound systems in the building accompanied their work with radios, record players, and televisions. This valuable experience plus their instruction by Mr. Jacobsen has provided service at Central and will help the student in the future as competent technicians.

The Distributive Education Club of America has been very successful this year. Under the direction of a new teacher at Central, Mr. Spraggins, the students learned many business skills and had the opportunity for rewarding jobs. In addition to this, the students learned more about other careers. Because of the various opportunities offered by this club, students were given a better insight into the future world of business.

NFL Captures Local Awards

Central's National Forensics League promoted interest in the speech arts this year, spurring interest in debate, discussion, and speech tournament activities.

Centralites were proud of their peers when they came home from speech tournaments with trophies awarded to them for placing in the various events. White Station, Frayser, and Craigmont tournaments were some of the city tournaments they attended.

At the beginning of the school year members of the N.F.L. offered "mini-courses" after school, to inform interested students of the strict rules imperative for the perfect execution of each type of "cutting" or speech.

Red Cross Offers Community Service

With Miss Royal as their sponsor, the Red Cross successfully served the community through its activities. The annual Red Cross Drive was held during November resulting in a fair sum of money turned over to the Area Chapter of the Red Cross. For Christmas, the Red Cross supplied gifts for teenagers, always a worthwhile project.

The Central High School Chapter of the American Red Cross truly contributed to the success of the Red Cross everywhere.

Quill & Scroll Includes Outstanding Journalists

The Quill and Scroll, a journalistic honor society, is open to those students who show special ability and diligence in writing for the school paper or yearbook. A gold pin and certificate signify their membership in this club. Once a membership is gained, it is a lifetime honor. After certain academic requirements are met, the names of those inducted into the Paul Flowers Chapter of the Quill and Scroll were announced at the journalism banquet last Spring which was held at the Spaghetti Store in Overton Square.

ROTC Obtains Recognition in State Competition

The ROTC department was one of the most active of all the school departments. It consisted of the ROTC Officers' Club, Boys' Drill Team, Girls' Drill Team and the Rifle Team. The Boys' and Girls' Drill Teams competed in many drill meets, parades and competition at Crump Stadium and in state competition in Martin, Tenn.

The Girls' Drill Team placed second in state competition the past two years. The rifle team held a Turkey shoot for Thanksgiving. The marksman with the highest score won a 10 lb. turkey. The rifle team won first place in the city competition.

Christmas Season Brings Entertainment

The various organizations at Central filled the second semester with many extracurricular activities. These activities aided the students in that they helped to better one's self as well as helped stimulate interest in school life.

Central's Mu Alpha Theta gladdened the hearts of many youngsters at Bruce Elementary school this past Christmas. They provided refreshments and entertainment for the children as well as providing self-satisfaction for the members.

The annual Christmas program was held the week before Christmas. The chorus and band provided musical entertainment for the entire student body.

The speech department was busy as usual. A speech tournament in Jackson, Tennessee was held in February at Lambuth College and produced many winners. Central's annual John W. Simonton tournament was held in March. Preparations started as early as January and everything went smoothly.

TOP - Sally Stover, Bruce Ingram and Ms. Jacobs display the beautiful sweepstakes and events trophies won at recent speech tournaments. Springtime Evokes Club Activities

Among the many activities brought on by the Springtime were Valentine Day activities sponsored by the Student Council. They raised money playing Cupid during this week dedicated to sweethearts. Red and white carnations were sold along with paper valentines.

The ROTC held its annual inspection this Spring. They displayed their companies and officers and were judged by various City of Memphis officials.

A vicious earthquake hit Guatemala and surrounding areas in February killing over 18,000 and destroying much of the area. The Homeroom Presidents' Club sponsored a drive for donations to send to the earthquake victims. The Spanish Club also helped immensely in this drive.

Seniors Display Outstanding

Coach Cate kept up his winning season record this year as the 1975 Central Football Team proved to be outstanding. The Warriors set several school records such as shutting out five teams in one season, playing six games without a touchdown scored against them and the opposition scoring a mere total of 91 points in one season. The tri-captains of the team, Jerry Bierbrodt, Mark Williams and Jay Manley, made the "All-Memphis Team" while Bierbrodt and Williams made the "All Mid-South Team." Bierbrodt made the "All-State Team" while Williams and Manley made "Honorable Mention All-State."

Girls Make It Through Rough Season

The Girls' Basketball Team had a tough season. Coached by Jo Ann Bowen, the team suffered several defeats, but this did not stop the team from doing their best. Leading scorer Juana Boyland along with her sisters Tjuana and Robin Boyland helped the team immensely. The team, composed almost entirely of juniors and sophomores, is planning on a most successful season next year.

Players Strive to Perfect Their Game

Central's baseball team got off to a good start but ran into trouble later on which led to a 6-7 season. Nevertheless, Ken Mathis and Glen Williams finished with a batting average of .452 and .450 respectively. During the summer season, Jim Sandridge led with a .350 batting average.

Outstanding Record Speaks for Girls' Efforts

Many awards were won by this year's girls' track team. The team consisted of about 20 energetic, enthusiastic athletes who practiced diligently to achieve high goals. Their dedication paid off as they won first place in sixteen meets throughout the year. Central placed second in two meets and third in one. Several tournaments were won by the girls' track team as they finished up the season with their wins far out weighing their losses.

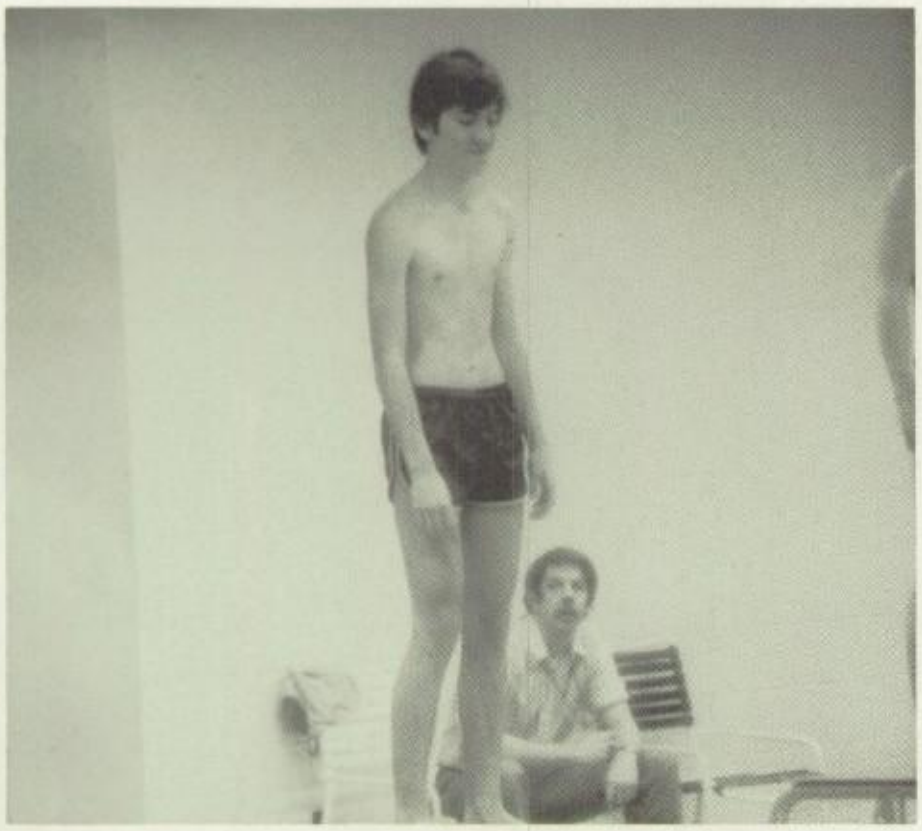
Swimmers Dive to Victories



The Warrior swimming team had a good season, with only a handful of regular members, the team placed well in all of their meets. This year, a first for Central was a girls' swimming team which only had two members: Dorothy Lane and Jane Sorrelle. Hopefully, this will help bring more female participation in sports.

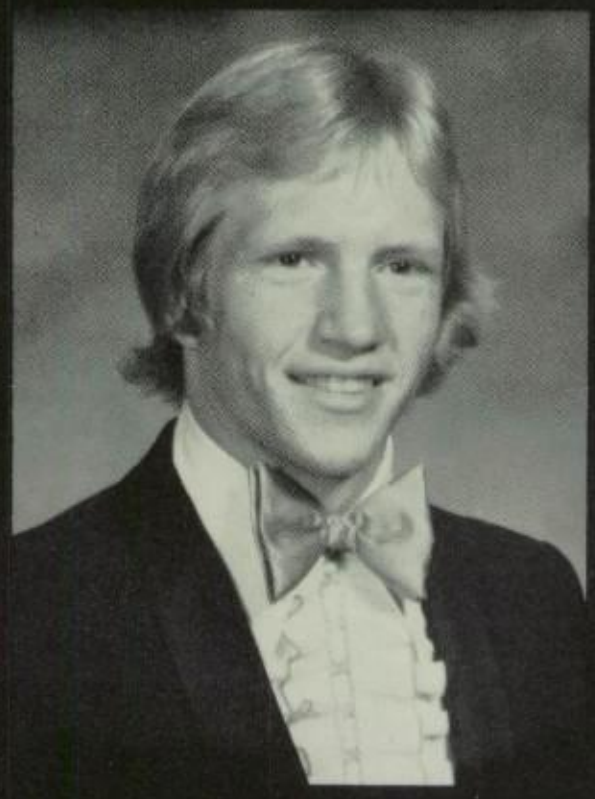
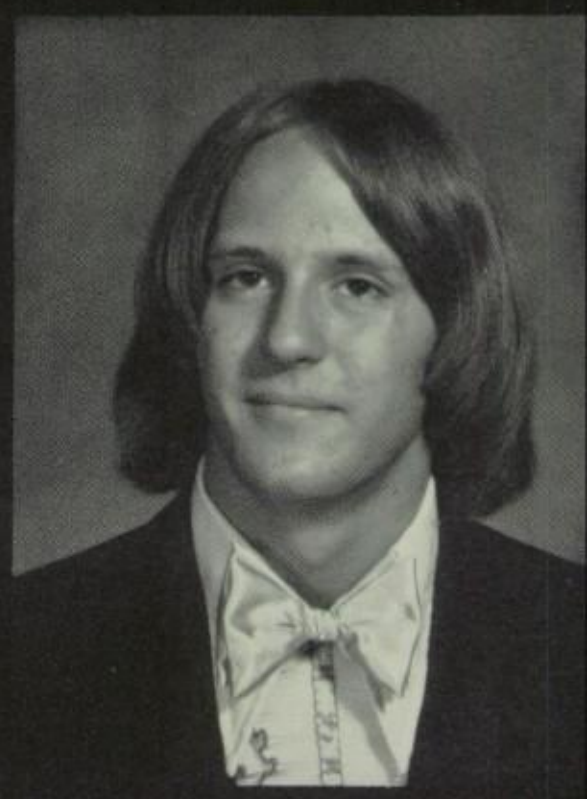
DIANE AMIS, captain of this year's cheerleading squad, was first alternate in the Homecoming Court. A member of the pep club for three years, she was also her homeroom president her freshman year and a class officer her junior year. Her involvement in the girls' track team and various intramural activities earned her membership in the H Club during her second and third year.

JERRY BIERBRODT, tri-captain of the football team this year, was named to the First String on the Associated Press All-State team. In addition, he was named All-Mid South, All-Memphis and All-Metro. He established the MIAA record for interceptions in a season and tied the record for interceptions in one game. He has played basketball and baseball and is a three year member of the H Club and the Order of the Redman.

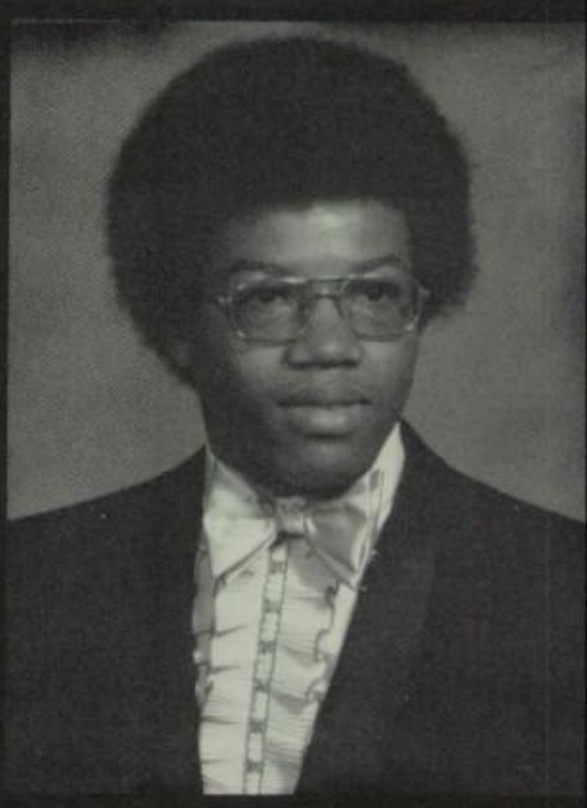


OAKLEY CARLILE is a National Merit Semi-Finalist, a member of the Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta and the recipient of the Rensselaer Bronze Medal Award for math and science. In his first year at Central, he was president of his homeroom and in his junior year he participated in several speech tournaments. He received an Honor Ribbon all three years and he was a page editor for the newspaper.



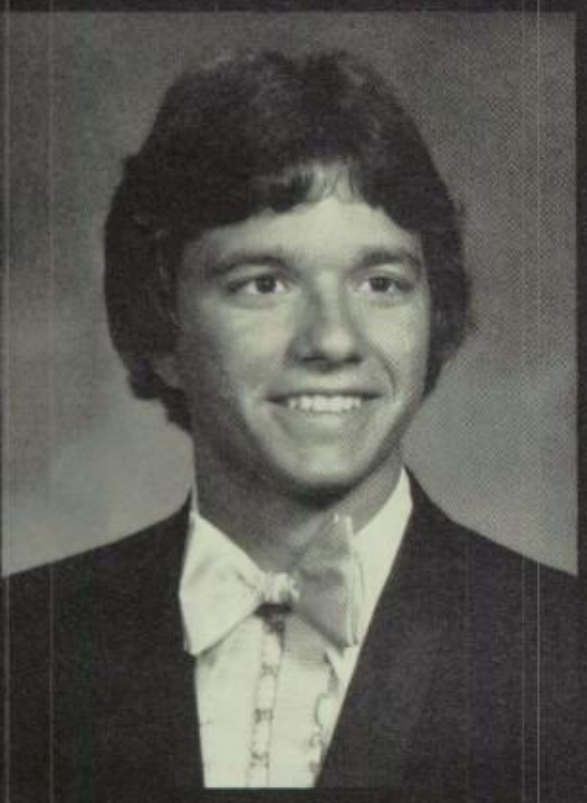
PHYLLIS DORTCH, this year's Homecoming Queen, has been a member of the Spanish Club and the Order of the Redman for all three years at Central. An Honor Ribbon recipient, she was inducted into the Honor Society in her junior year, as well as serving as president of the Honor Society her senior year. She was also homeroom president and a majorette.

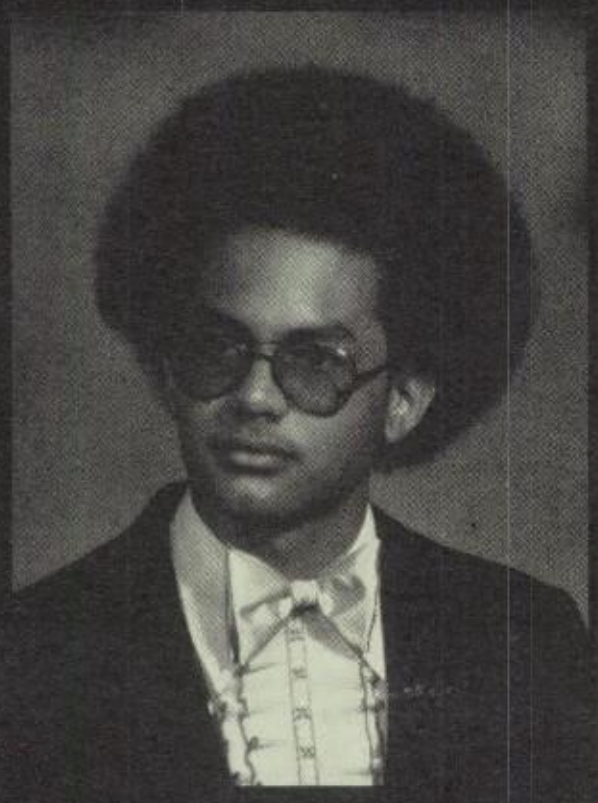
RICKIE DOWNEY serves as president of this year's Student Council - a job not totally alien to him, as he served as the president of his homeroom for two years. His activities extend beyond presiding though. He has been a member of the French Club and the Order of the Redman. Athletics also claim a share of his time. He has participated in intramurals, and has played basketball and tennis.



Ten Outstanding Seniors

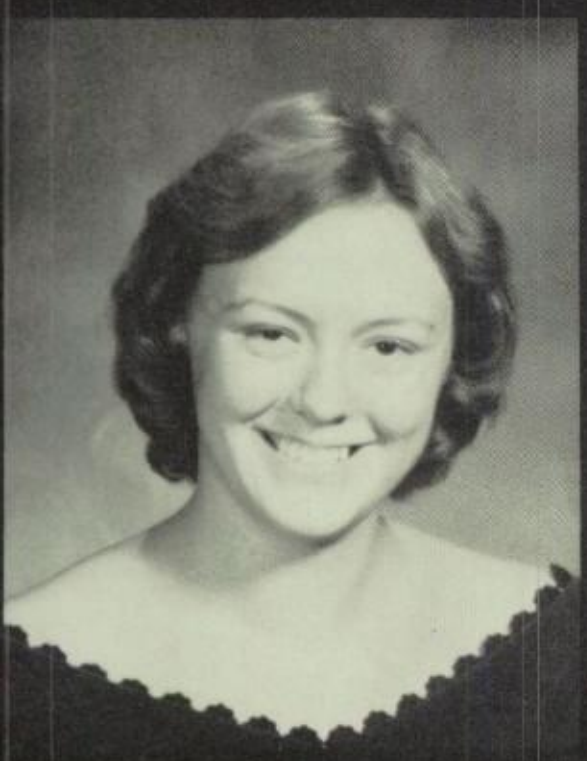
PAT GRAHAM is a third year member of the Spanish Club and the Order of the Redman. In her junior year, she participated in speech tournaments securing membership in the N.F.L. Her major interest at Central has been the yearbook. As a staff member her junior year and co-editor this year, she has put in long hours of hard work. This year she was elected a member of the Homecoming Court.





HERCULES KAPOS has received an Honor Ribbon and has been a member of the Order of the Redman for three years. He was elected president of his sophomore class. In his junior year he joined the Spanish Club and was inducted into the Honor Society. He has participated in speech tournaments and is a member of the N.F.L. This year he is serving as Boys' V.P. on the Student Council and received a Letter of Commendation on the basis of his high PSAT score. He was recognized by the Memphis Press - Scimitar as Teenager of the Week.

JIM PATTERSON, a member of the Order of the Redman and Art Forum, has participated in many activities throughout Central. As a junior, he was inducted into the Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. He also became involved in the speech department. He was Fire Marshall his junior year and Class President during his senior year. He was named both a National Achievement Semi-Finalist and a National Merit Commended Student.



CARLA SMITH is treasurer of three organizations, the Student Council, the Gospel Chorus and the Latin Club and business manager for the annual. She won an Honor Ribbon all three years at Central and is a member of the Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta. She was also a National Achievement Semi-Finalist. She has served as a Red Cross Representative during her first two years.

SARAH STOVER, an active member of the speech department for three years, earned membership in both the N.F.L. and Thespians and has been V.P. of both. She worked on the newspaper staff as a page editor her junior year and as co-editor her senior year. She was named a National Merit Semi-Finalist.

Señor hazme instrumento de tu paz
Donde haya odio, siempre yo amor,
Donde haya injuria, perdón;
Donde haya duda, fe;
Donde haya desaliento, esperanza,
Donde haya sombras, luz;
Donde haya tristeza, alegria
¡Oh Divino Maestro concédeme
Que no busque ser consolado--sino consolar;
Que no busque ser comprendido, sino comprender;
Que no busque ser amado, sino amor;
Porque dando es como recibimos,
Perdonando es como Tu nos perdonas y muriendo en tí, es como nacemos a la vida eterna.

Central Warriors Welcome Class of '78

As always, the beginning o the year brought confusion an eagerness to the incoming Fresh men. The first few days wer filled with finding classrooms i an unfamiliar building an learning many new faces.

As the year wore on, the fresh men became settled in their ne surroundings. When Homecomin week came, they joined in th activities with spirit and enthusi asm. Every organization in Cen tral gained active participant from the freshman class. Thei support was visible at all athleti events and money-raising activi ties.

The end of the year produced freshman class with new idea and willing to carry on Central' best traditions.

Dear Central High,

It has really been an experience being Co-Editor of the yearbook. This year many new ideas were used in THE WARRIOR.

I would like to thank the members of the staff for their hard work and cooperation and also the faculty who helped us many ways. I especially want to thank Pat Graham for her constant support in making this yearbook.

Dear Central High,

Being Co-Editor of the 1976 WARRIOR has been a privilege in itself. Putting a yearbook together is a big job and I hope you are satisfied with the way it has turned out.

The success of this yearbook must be shared with the members of the staff, Mrs. Nesbitt, and my Co-Editor, Kathy Drake. I would like to give a special thanks to Kathy for her constant work and friendship throughout the year.

Well Lynny, I know I can't even remember (few) times and I know we friends but we did and I am glad. Yeah, this seems like I'm going away and in away I am (from here). I hope next year will be a lot better at Central for ya,
I know it will! Now I'm forget about our good times and I know we won't forget our bad
all times - but they are all funny now huh? Yep they are.
Oh yes and our games in the library!! I hope they don't come true. Well little Lynny - See ya around.
have fun Friday night
and don't stay out late!!
Love ya bunches '76'

Hey, it has been great knowing you and some great times and to get there wish have come!
Love ya

Hope you have a fun
Summer 11, and see ya next year. Love
Susan
